SUMMER TIME ARRANGEMENTS PRECEDE THE UPCOMING YEAR

1. Sue Biddle sells school books, to start off the new year.
2. Tammy Howard pulls cards for her brother as Renee Paulsen and Mike Sullivan wait to schedule their next year's classes.
3. Miss Poulson sizes up Sheila Henkes for her freshman gym class.
4. When it comes time for scheduling, Mary Jo Menden makes herself at home.
5. Lisa Hoeft and Mary Jane Olley smile as Lisa Drascic points out the deep dark dungeons of SCHS.
6. Big Buddies are as busy as bees getting ready for freshman orientation.
7. Linda Kupper offers her schedule to Cindy Pinnow to see if maybe it will work out better.

Zany costumes and an uninhibited atmosphere accompanied both Spirit & Colors Day. Space cadets, dwarfs, a bishop and even a conehead stalked the halls, revealing students' hidden fantasies. Spirit Day antics also brought victory to the seniors in the tug-of-war contests and to the juniors in the jump rope competition.

On the following day, fantasies turned into a case of the "rowdies" when students dressed in a kaleidoscope of colors burst into frenzied cheering at the afternoon pep assembly.

1. The determination of the Junior Class is reflected on the faces of Steve Piette, Joe Graceffa and Mark Fairbanks.
2. Gandalf's (from The Hobbit) fantasy is to be Mr. "Z"!
3. Larry Smith and Mike Kornwolf come out of uniform to the band's performance on Spirit Day.
4. School spirit doesn't end with Freshmen, as Senior Joe Kasinski demonstrates.
5. Hi Conna (Dopey) DeMeulenaere, Terri (Happy) Ruffalo, Donna (Grumpy) Clementi, Kathy (Bashful) Anderson, Linda (Doc) Eitel and Connie (Sneezy) Williamson, — Where's Snow White?
6. Father (Paul Oberst) joyfully announces the marriage of Mary Wermter to John Hart on Colors Day. Assisting Father are altar girls Jean Dougard and Anne Marini. Witnesses include Lisa Floch, Theresa May, Steve Rupsch, Mary Weaver, Denise D'Acquisto, and Dave Bahl.
7. Rhonda (Perfetto), are you sure you want what's at the end of the rope?
8. Spirit is spelled, . . . S-E-N-I-O-R-S!

Homecoming Game And Parade

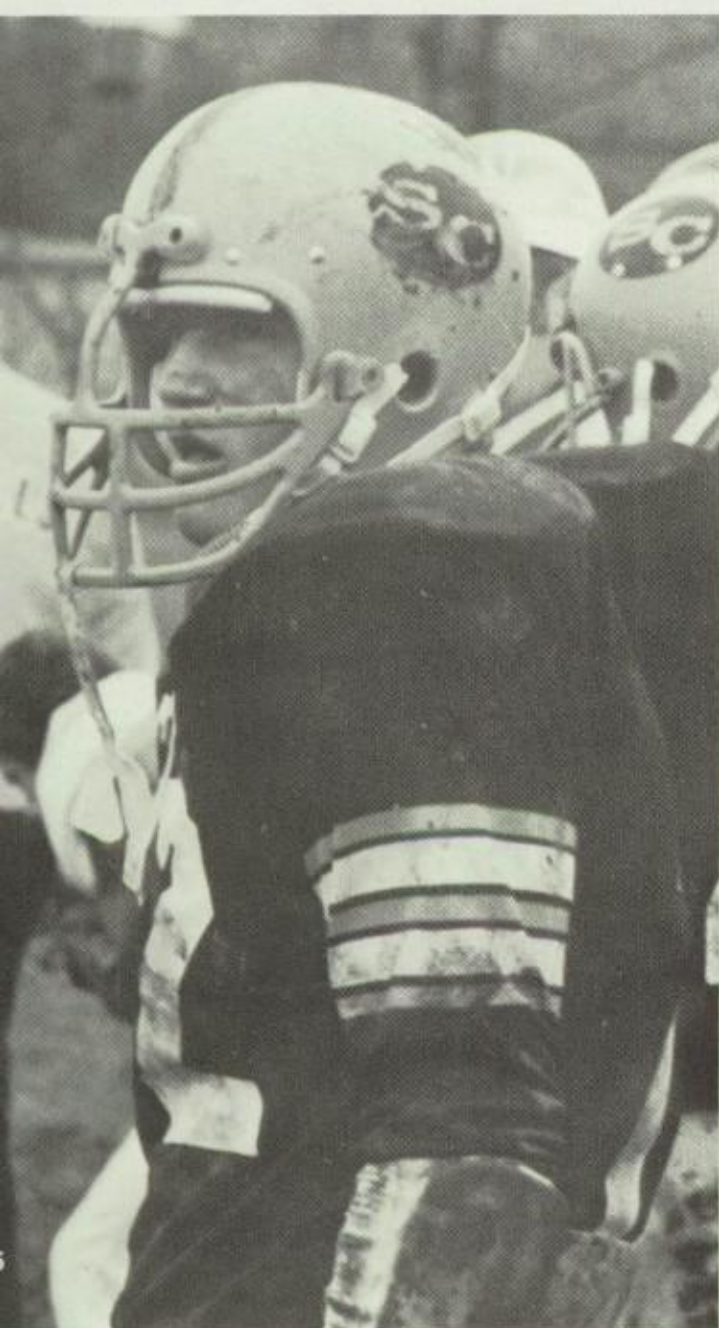

Even blustery weather couldn't dampen the spirits of those who attended the Homecoming game and parade. High winds threatened to topple floats as students frantically added their final touches to them. The Band was sorely missed, but the parade festivities proceeded as scheduled.

The Junior Class was the victor for the third year in a row with their larger than life "Victoryola." Second place went to the Seniors, their best showing in four years.

Parade activities shifted to Horlick Field as fans awaited what promised to be an exciting game. As the weather grew colder, victory eluded the Angels, who lost to Marquette 10-7. The gray skies matched the mood of the crowd as fans silently filed out of Horlick Field.

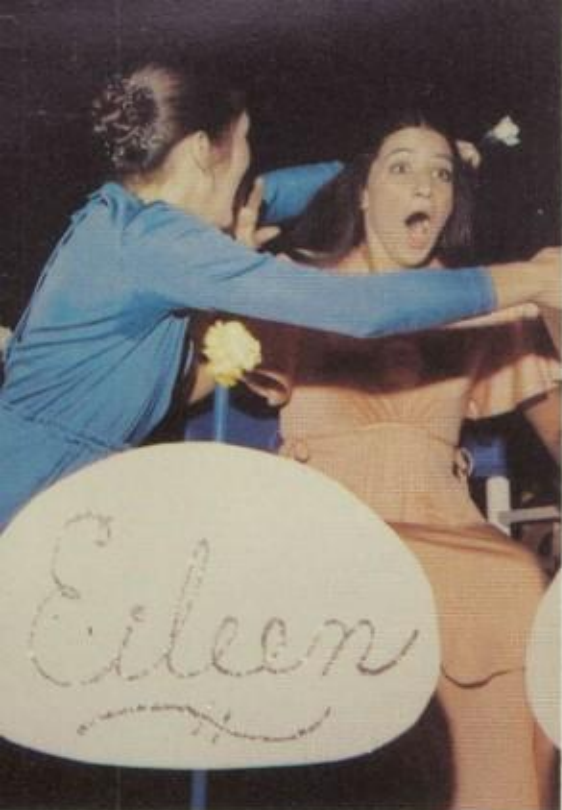

The freshman spirit surrounds their float as it proceeds along the parade route.
 Nothing can stop a determined Chris Barker as he gains additional yardage.
 Corine Pulda's smile reflects her treasured moments as the 1977 Homecoming Queen.
 Can there be a football at the bottom of all of this?

 What can you say to a class who's won the float competition 3 straight years except . . . congratulations Class of '79, you're great!

Coronation

Wednesday evening, Paul Koleske presided over coronation and sang an original composition. The senior class selected Corine Pulda queen. After the coronation, Pep Club served cookies and punch in the cafeteria. "White Soul" played at the dance following the Saturday game.

1. Escort Dan Wenzel smiles as Cheryl Smith proudly pins on his boutonniere before coronation.
2. Sharon Ruetz and Eileen Rawley applaud while Corine Pulda screams as
3. M.C. Paul Koleske announces her the 1977 Homecoming Queen.
4. "I could have danced all night," sighs Callie Weyenberg and Mike Leffler as they watch their friends sleeping peacefully at the Homecoming dance.
5. The 1977 Homecoming Court (left to right) Sharon Ruetz, Tammi Sessa, Mary Kay Lewis, Christie Potter, Corine Pulda, Pam Bielefeldt, Jenny Miller, Eileen Rawley, and Rochelle DeRose.

6. The 1977 Homecoming Queen Corine Pulda, 1st Attendant Pam Bielefeldt, and 2nd Attendant Christie Potter reign over Homecoming weekend.
7. The Mixed Chorus directed by Keith Ruelle, entertain the audience while singing "Time in a Bottle" at coronation.
8. Mike Tirabassi and Lisa Wells boogie to the tunes of "White Soul" while Claire Skantz, Ann Spieker, Mike Polzin, Lynn Wells and Gary Lochowitz watch them delightfully at the Homecoming dance.

Times to be Treasured
Another summer is gone and now it's fall but the warmth remains here between us all
As I see the people and hear the sounds,
I'm really glad for going down — 'cause
I've seen some good like this before.

Now if you can, please come with me and I will help you all to see, there can be good in everything you do.
You can make or break yourself yes, be what you want to be, with a little help you'll pull yourself right through.

chorus
We've got times to be treasured, we want to hold them in our hands, but they slip away remembered and we try to understand.
Where will they go and when will they return?
Is it something we must work for? Is it something we must earn?

Hey things are pretty good, tell me if I'm understood, things around us really aren't too bad.
Just live for what you want to be, look ahead and you will see— it sometimes doesn't matter what we've had.

I've just one more thing to say, let's freeze this moment of this day and hold on to a great time we all share. And in the future recognize as it comes before our eyes the treasured times we have, so we will care. (chorus)
Times to be treasured, Times to be treasured, Times to be treasured for all just to be.
Times to be treasured how often are such pleasures Times to be treasured for you and for me.

lyrics and music by: Paul Koleske

Summer Is A Time For Work, Play, And Travel

For many of our students, the summer of '77 was an interesting and exciting one. Giving up part of their vacation time to study Physics and Biology at Ball State University, Kentucky, were Mark Glaub, Anne Maller, and Paul Porcaro (5). Learning about our government and its processes were Badger State Representatives, Kay Draeger (2). Dave Brinza, Joe Mrazek, (not pictured), and Greg Zlevor (3). Greg campaigned for office and was elected governor of Badger Boys' State. Another student, Jerry Organ, (7), went all the way to the Capitol to learn first hand how Democracy works. Serving as a page for Senator William Proxmire, Jerry spent several months in the excitement and commotion of Washington, D.C.

For others, summer was a time to get away from it all. Sister Kathleen Reichert (6) received a grant to study in France and spent three weeks at the university of Avignon. C'est bon, n'est — ce pas? Traveling to Australia, Miss Kroupa was more than happy to give a little free guidance to a local emu. (8)

For those who stayed back here in Racine, Wisconsin, however, the days were spent soaking up the sunshine, playing baseball for local teams (1), or holding down summer jobs (4).

With the cafeteria in a shambles, heating bills rising higher and higher, and a dedication to Acquin Hall long overlooked, there was a definite need for change. The initial push for change began with an $1800 donation from the St. Mary's Woman's Auxiliary to buy new cafeteria furniture. Students raised an additional $10,500 to help replace furniture almost thirty years old.

Adding insulation, lowering ceilings, installing a new heating system and thermapane windows were part of a $45,000 investment to save energy, which is expected to be recovered within a year. Unfortunately, these changes sacrificed some of the school's charm by eliminating beautiful leaded doors and high stately windows and ceilings.

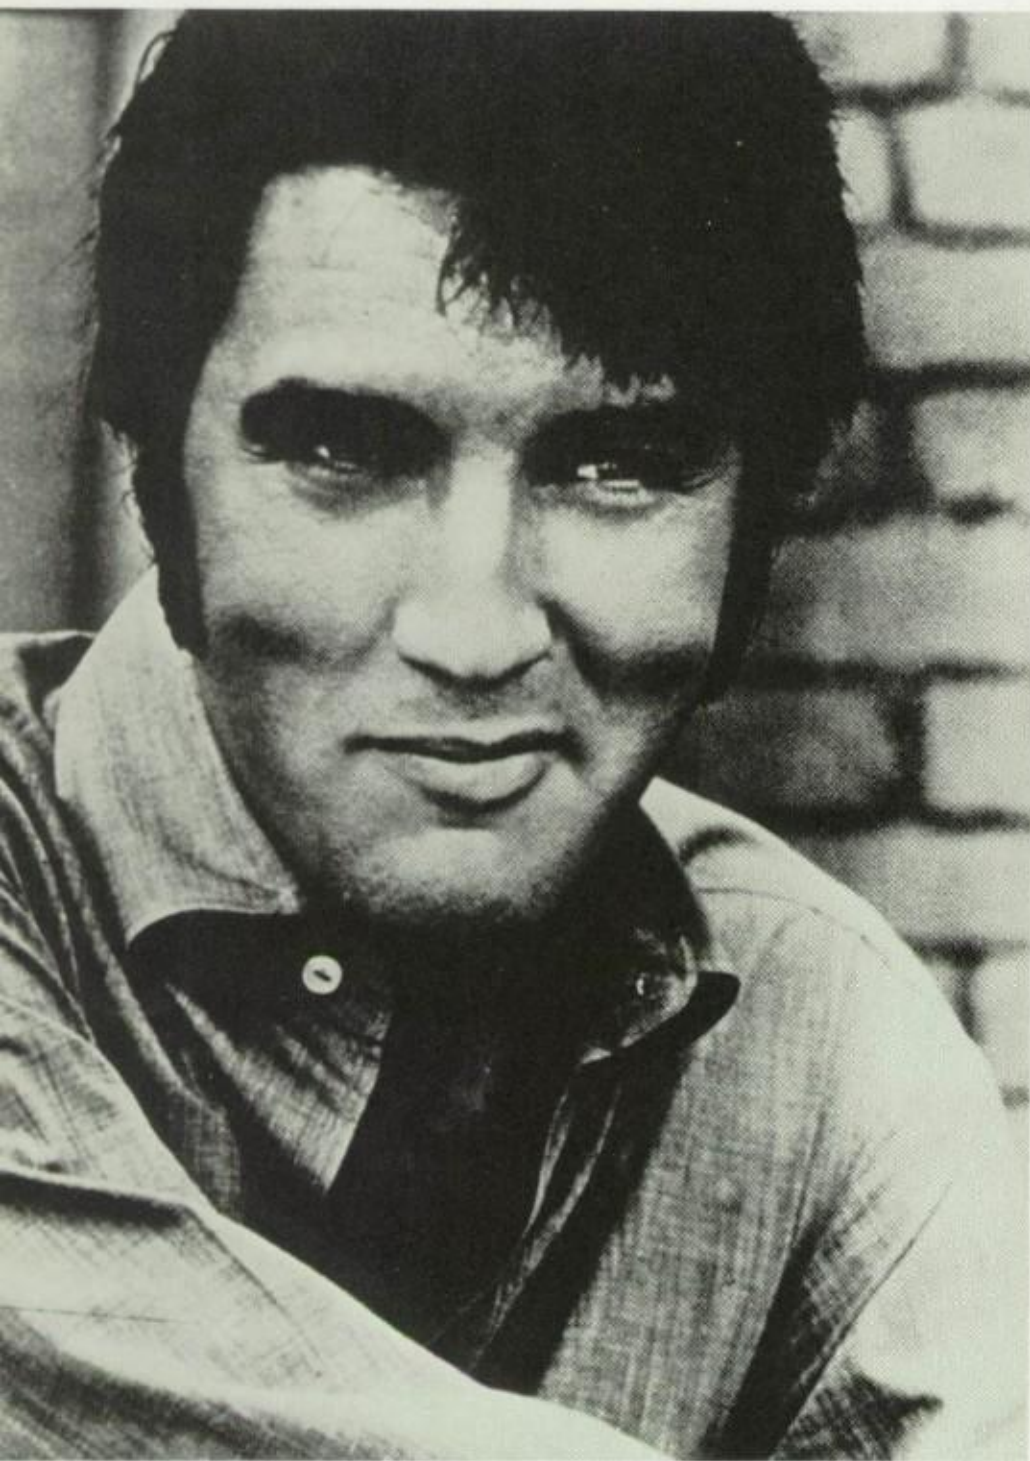

Monsignor Witkowiak officiated at the presentation while the student body listened to the ceremony over the P.A. system. Everyone gathered in the cafeteria or in the halls to enjoy a free doughnut after the dedication.

The recent renovation of the cafeteria prompted the newly chosen Archbishop Rembrand Weakland to select St. Catherine's as his first stop in visiting his archdiocese. It was truly an honor to be the first to entertain the archbishop.

Over 100 guests attended the dedication of a memorial to Acquin Hall. The James Thomas' donated a wooden statue of Saint Catherine of Siena which was carved in Italy. Robert Johansen, a Racine artist, contributed a watercolor of Acquin Hall, making the memorial truly representative of SCHS's heritage.

Signs Of The Times

In 1978 Socialism became a dominant force among European Governments, while Sadat and Begin worked for peace in the Middle East. President Jimmy Carter made the first decisive move to give the Panama Canal back to Panama. Here at home the entire nation suffered as the Coal Miners strike dragged on. The cost of Hersheys Cocoa rose 100%, but the price of a Lance increased by only 9.5%. It was the last year for the girls uniform, and fashion didn't suffer terribly. The Human Rights Movement lost one of its finest leaders, Senator Hubert H. Humphrey, while the nation mourned the one and only Elvis. Groucho Marx' death signaled the end of an era, and everyone wondered if Christmas would still be white without Bing Crosby. Disco Mania siezed the dance halls as men and women boogied and bumped to music from Saturday Night Fever. Rumour had it that Fleetwood Mac was a good band and just about everybody went to see Star Wars.

Fund Raising Involves Total School Community

In order for St. Catherine's to survive, many fund raising activities are necessary. Initiating these money drive projects was the Pizza Sale in October. Students, their parents, and faculty members all lent a hand in making the pizzas in an assembly line fashion. Sponsored by "The Friends of St. Catherine's," this year's pizza sale again proved very successful. Another yearly event is the Girls Monogram Club volleyball game against the faculty. The money brought in by this project is used to buy hams for underprivileged Racine families at Christmas time. Similar to the volleyball game is the Boys Monogram Club benefit basketball game against the male faculty. The Patron Drive which coincides with the yearly large scale musical play is primarily the job of the students. Ads for the playbook are sold to local companies and interested patrons. The big winners in the 1978 drive were the Seniors, bringing in more than $10,000.00 for their school.

"Doing Their Own Thing"

The outside interests of SCHS students reflect the many different personality types found within the school. Through their hobbies and pastimes students are able to express the uniqueness and individuality that often go unnoticed in the classroom.

1. Anne Bunkers spends a solitary moment practicing her violin.
2. Jesus Mandujano shows what can happen to anyone who tries to tangle with him; he has a black belt in karate.
3. Connie (the horse) jumps with joy when her owner, Mickey Sackman, takes her for a run.
4. UW-Parkside is the scene of a little scuba diving fun on Thursday evenings for Cathy Gryniewicz.

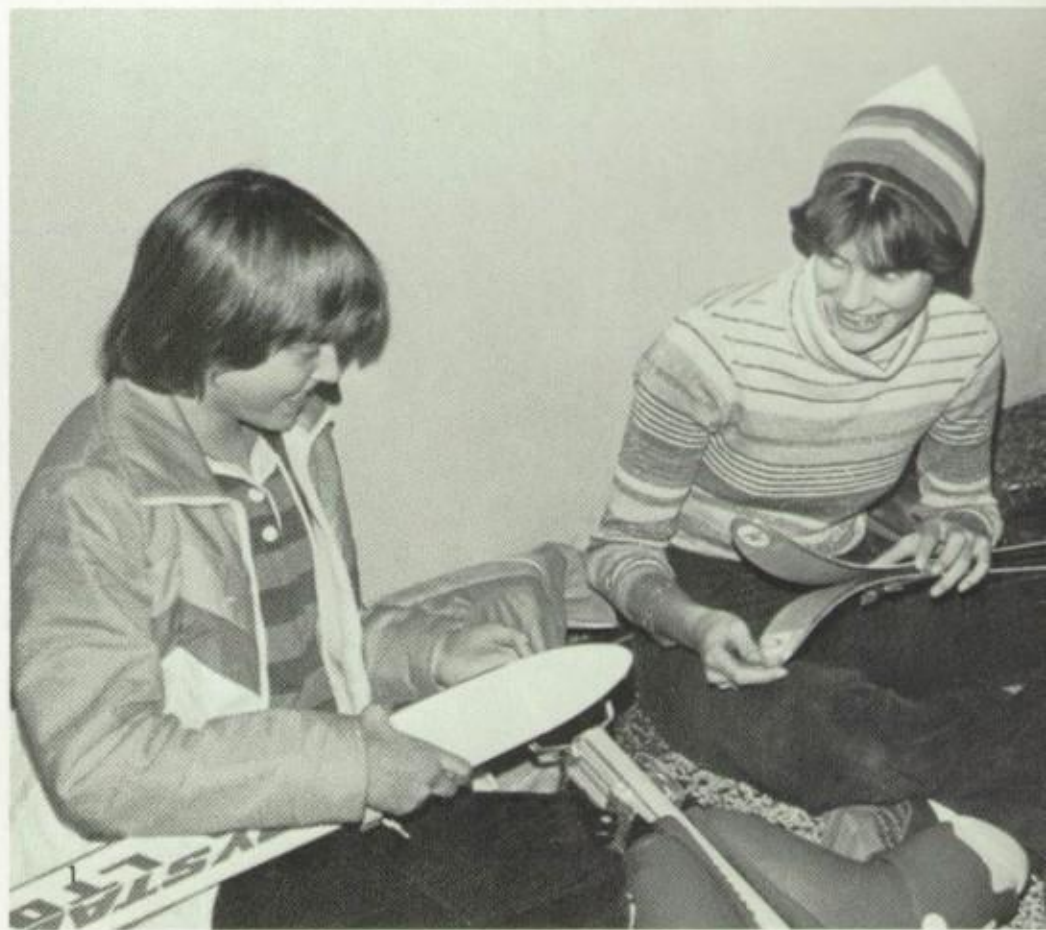

1. Not many people can boast about their skill at taxidermy, but junior Tim Mason certainly can.
2. One needn't ask if there's a penguin in the house at the Ruelle's. Pictured are Mr. Ruelle, his two lovely daughters, and only a small portion of his collection which is composed of over 75 penguins.
3. Vicky Vallner, dressed in her English riding habit, is an accomplished rider who intends to work with horses when she graduates.

4. Debbie Carravetta enjoys building and selling electronic CB radios.
5. State champion, Tom Ruppert, enjoys a game of chess with a friend.
6. Anna Aiello mats a portrait she did in gouche.
7. Over 20 teddy bears fill Beth Ishman's bedroom, making it a nice place to visit.
8. 10-speed bikes are one of the best ways to enjoy the Wisconsin countryside. Pictured are Ron LeTendre, Jeff Sisak, Mr. Seeger, Jim Hlavka, Steve Pfeiffer, and Mr. Messina.

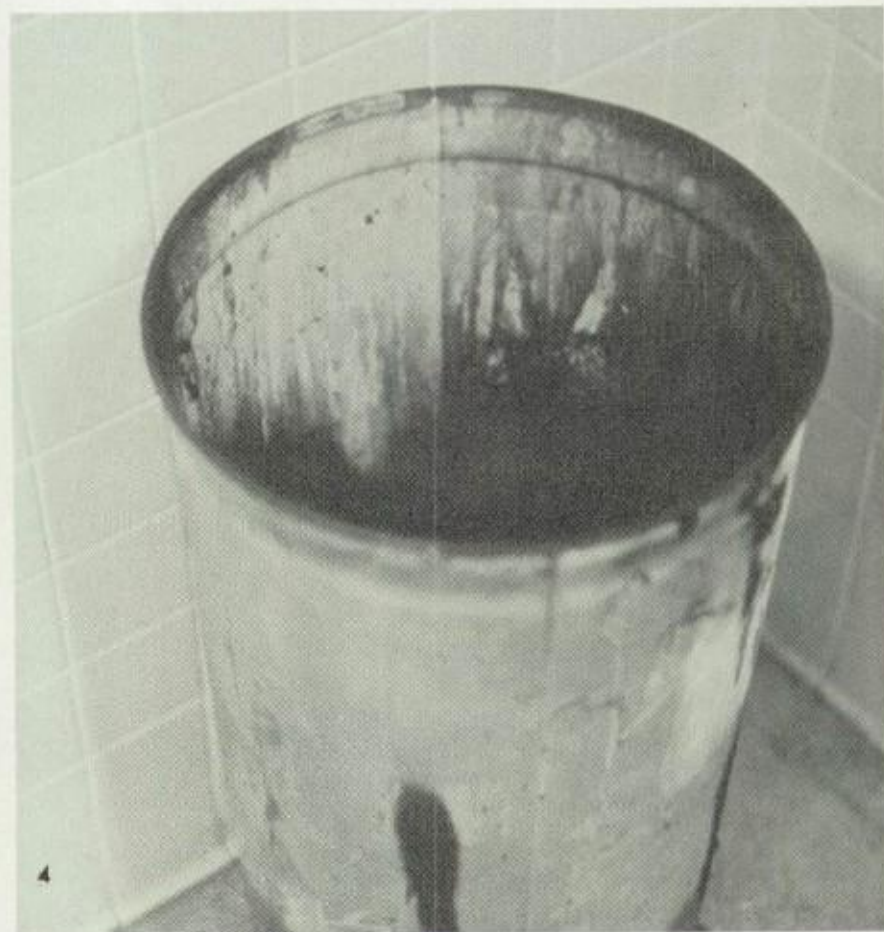

Bits And Pieces Of Student Life

1. Jeanie Pfeiffer and Kerry Hubbard get in the mood for skiing.
2. Mrs. Gage explains ways to help others through Citizen Advocacy as Sally Krage and Kathy Jarosz listen attentively.
3. Seniors honor each class and faculty by distributing cookies during lunch to show they care. Pictured are: Ann Willis, Jenny Miller, Ellie Herrmann, and Connie Williamson.
4. Mike Phillips helps make the Talent Show a true "classic."
5. Diane Clazmer having a "jolly good time" in London.
6. Members of National Honor Society light candles to reconfirm their pledge at the induction ceremony.
7. Working on Lance doesn't seem to be as nerve racking as people think — after all, if it was, would Barb Bahrke's nails be that long?
8. Hey Kathy Prikl, are you sure show business is for you?
9. Mixed Chorus entertains the audience at the Christmas Concert.

1. Joe Kasinski, native St. Cat's student, performs in the Senior Class Officers' Talent Show act of "Guitarzan."
2. Barry Schliesmann mystifies the Talent Show audience with his magical powers.
3. Father Russ Roetzer accompanies Mary DeMark as she rehearses for the Music Man.
4. A small trash can served as the source of the fire which disrupted classes and resulted in the summoning of the city fire department on a cold day in February.
5. Hostess Club member, Liz Comande, makes a new friend while helping out at a Woman's Junior League Christmas Party.
6. Todd Dyess attempts to steal the ball from his opponent during a sophomore basketball game.
7. John Grant moonlights as a "Dee Jay" at radio station WFNY.
8. Pam Bielefeldt admires her "Angel Day" carnations. Are they from you Jim Shack?

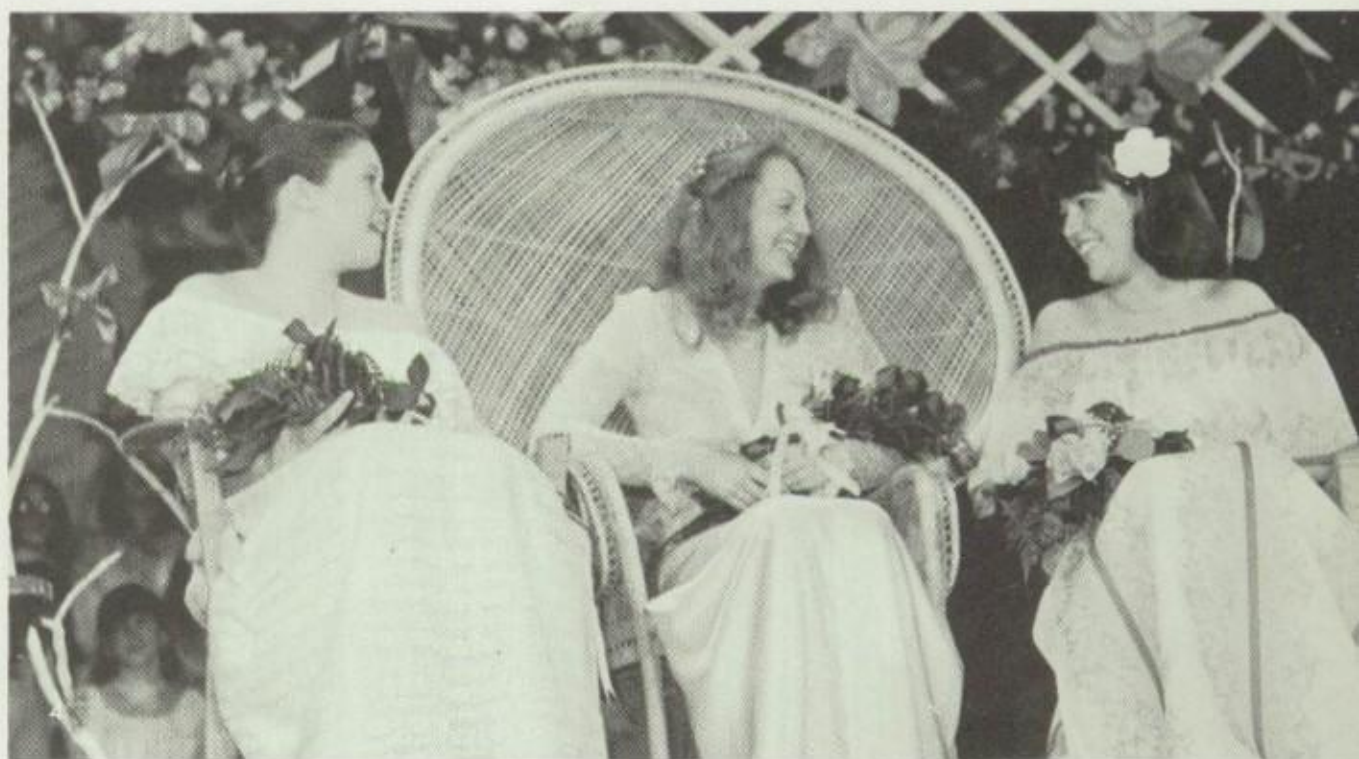

Miss SCHS

1. Jerry Howell sings "Misty Roses" following the crowning of the queen. 2. Former Miss SCHS, Margaret Monroe, joins this year's court in singing the Alma mater. 3. Beth McGuire Honorary Court member, is escorted by Mike Phillips. 4. Miss SCHS, Jenny Miller, exchanges smiles with attendants Julie Snay and Pam Bielefeldt. 5. 1978 Miss SCHS Court: Mary Kay Lewis, Denise Pirkel, Sharon Ruetz, First attendant Julie Snay, Miss SCHS Jenny Miller, Second attendant Pam Bielefeldt, Tammy Sessa, Corine Pulda, Sheila Carney. Escorts: Jerry Organ, Rocky Tirabassi, Brian Buck, Mike Kusters, John Mitek, Dave Brinza, Ken Wead, Brian Thomas, Drew Niles. 6. 1978 Honorary Court: Row 1: Eileen Rawley, Beth McGuire, Cheryl Smith, Paulette Kesser. Row 2: Kay Draeger, Sue DaPra. Row 3: Christie Potter, Jeanette Wyant. Not Pictured: Mary DeMark. 7. Master of Ceremonies, Joe Kasinski, announces the 1978 Miss SCHS, Jenny Miller.

As this year's Miss SCHS ceremony came into full bloom, four years of hard work and dedication unfolded for the audience. Recognized for their service to the school and to their class were 18 girls selected to be on both court and honorary court. The stage lights dimmed to a soft, rosy pink, and Joe Kasinski opened the evening as Master of Ceremonies. Nervous, anxious, and excited, the SCHS court took their place on stage and were entertained by the Glee Club and later, soloist Jerry Howell. With a note of nostalgia still lingering in the air, Margaret Monroe shared her reflections and memories of being Miss SCHS of 1977. The time soon came, however, to stop looking back and start looking ahead to whom would be chosen as this year's Miss SCHS. Taking the throne beside attendants Julie Snay and Pam Bielefeldt was the newly crowned Jenny Miller. As coronation came to a close, the "misty roses" which decorated the evening were saved to help fill a scrapbook of high school memories.

ACADEMICS

plenty of fun

~~Jimmie~~

Administration

In order to fulfill ideals established in the school's academic philosophy, administrators work to see that each student's needs are met. Sisters of St. Dominic, Owners of St. Catherine's High School, organize the administrative system to insure that the school is well run and efficient.

The Management Board controls the school's budget and issues policies that influence each student. It hires the principal, who in turn hires teachers that he feels meet SCHS' standards of education.

Our new principal, Father Joseph Anderson's job is designed to check that the curriculum is kept updated, and discipline problems removed. He is concerned with making sure that enough religious and spiritual activities are provided for the student.

Rev. Leon Schneider, the President of St. Catherine's, is responsible for raising money to help keep SCHS' doors open. He is in charge of public relations and helps needy students receive financial aid.

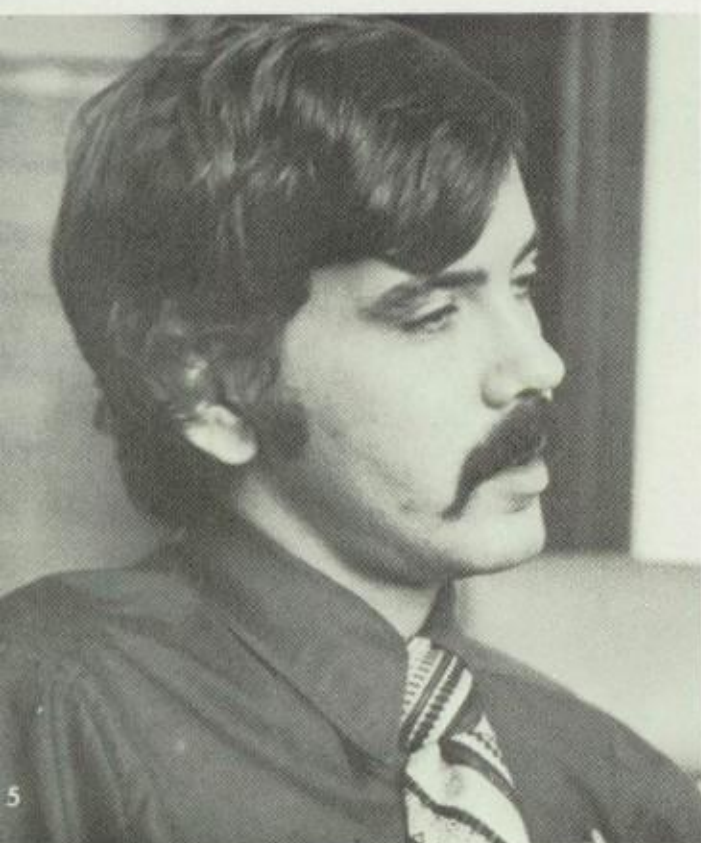

Ken Dopke, Vice President and Dean of Students, is in charge of all student activities other than athletics. Each year Mr. Dopke works strenuously with the Patron Drive and continually raises more money than the school's initial goal.

1. Father Joseph Anderson, Principal. 2. Sr. Jane Kutchey, Vice President and Registrar. 3. Sr. Benedicta Albers, Treasurer. 4. The Management Board. 5. Mr. Kevin Rozman, Religious Activities Director. 6. Mr. Kenith Dopke, Vice President and Student Dean. 7. Rev. Leon Schneider, President. 8. Sr. Mary Patricia Mason, Alumni Director.

Vice President and Registrar Sr. Jane Kutchey schedules all classes offered each year at SCHS. She evaluates what courses need to be added to the curriculum and those that need to be dropped. She is second in charge, and has the power to make any necessary decisions in the absence of the principal.

The Religious Activities Director is a new administrative position added this past year. The Religion Department felt that more emphasis should be placed on religious activities and with the Board's approval, Mr. Kevin Rozman was hired for the job. He coordinates retreat experiences, masses, and successfully promotes the philosophy of St. Catherine's. He works closely with the Faculty and offers ways to plug religion into the classroom.

1. Kathie Valentine, Spanish 1, 2, Spanish Club Advisor.
2. Lucie Helland, French 2, 4, French Club Advisor. Mary Dretzka, Julie Bauer, Jenny Crull, Kathie Coates, Lisa Floch, Colleen Cunningham, Cathy Cunningham, Mrs. Helland and Colleen Drascic pose for a picture with French Canadian folk singer, Robert Pacquet, on a French field trip.
3. Gail R. Rice, Spanish 1, 3, 4.
4. Mr. Grauwels' fourth year German class.
5. Sister Jane Weiss, German 2, 3, German Club Advisor, SAC, Clerk — Students' Records, Chairperson — Foreign Language Department.
6. Sister Kathleen Reichert, English 311, 312, French 1, 2, Hostess Club Advisor.
7. Joseph Grauwels, German 1, 2, 4, A.V. Director.

Studying a foreign language is an excellent opportunity to learn about other people, their language and lifestyle. It broadens and enriches a person's outlook and acceptance of cultures different from their own. Students find it exciting when they can close the communication gap that exists among nations. Language comes alive as students listen to a radio program, read a foreign newspaper or book or see a foreign movie.

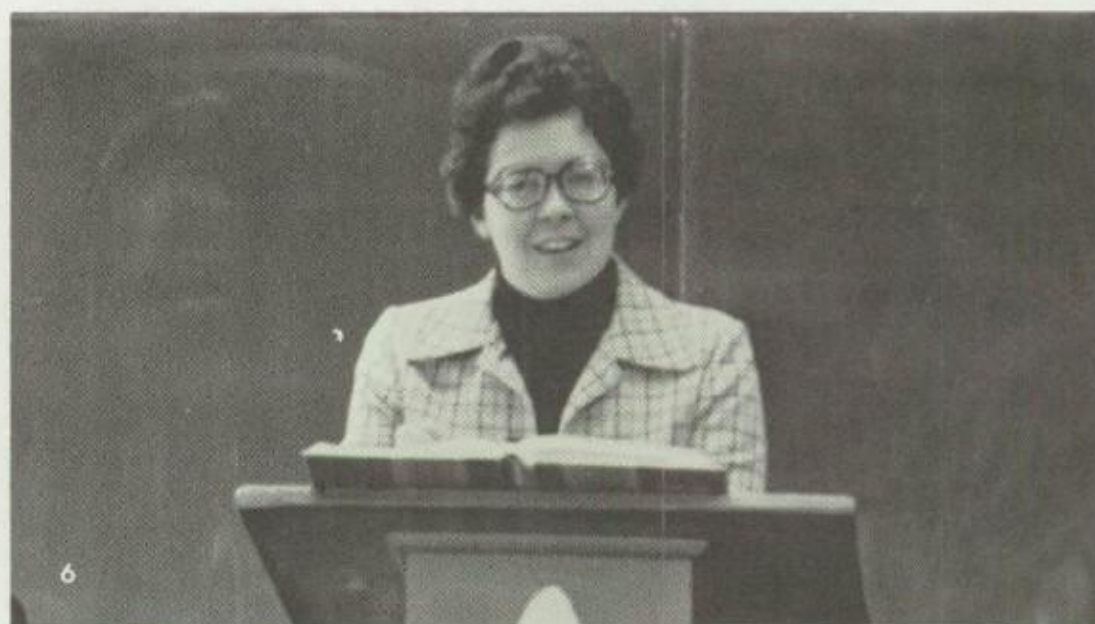

Four years of French, German and Spanish provide interested students with a good background for college and future employment. During the first two years of foreign language study teachers emphasize vocabulary and grammatical patterns as well as speech and listening comprehension. Students enrolled in the third and fourth year continue to develop language skills by reading literature and writing essays.

Foreign Language

The foreign language program extends its influence to the extra-curricular activities of the school through the organization of French, German and Spanish Clubs. International Day in April was the first combined effort of each language to share an understanding and appreciation of their language experience. Slide shows of each country, native costumes and various international dishes provided students with an insight into other cultures. All in all, the foreign language department makes a viable contribution to educating the total individual.

Science

St. Cat's provides a wide variety of science courses aimed at the individual student's needs. For the student who wishes to pursue a science career, advanced courses, such as Human Biology and Physics 741, offer an in-depth study of the physical and biological sciences. Classes ranging from Space Resources to Ecology give a general background for those interested in science as a means of enrichment. In this way, students are given the opportunity to explore more than just the basic high school science curriculum.

1. Alan Mollerskov, Biology, Ecology, Freshman Basketball Coach. 2. Pat Witkiewicz, General Biology, Human Biology, Ski Club. 3. Julie Bauer, Margaret Granger, and Anne Marini efficiently dissect a cat. 4. Donna McCauley, Darlene Bodi, Mary Wermter, examine the path of a trajectory as it is projected into the air. 5. Sister Jean Ferstl, Physics, Physical Science, Head of Science Department, Senior Class Advisor, Education Committee. 6. Bette J. Ferries, Earth and Resources, Algebra 1, Pom-pon Girls, Asst. Girls Track Coach. 7. Sister Carolyn Hageman, Chemistry. 8. Bob Biondi, Ed Furey, measure the temperature of H_2O .

Science is a continuing process seeking a better understanding of nature, of the universe, and all that is in it. Through this investigation of the world, the theories and facts of science evolve. A study of the process of science should give students a better understanding of the change occurring in the world around them. Hopefully, this will help them to adapt better to the ever accelerating pace of life. In addition, by participating in scientific activities, students develop an ability to approach problems creatively and to analyze, explain, predict and evaluate many aspects of life. Relating science to everyday living in this way, is the goal of St. Catherine's Science department.

Fine Arts

1. Tom Lee hooks a rug in 3-D class. 2. Mrs. Carol Terrien, Dance I, II, III, Advanced Dance, American Prose and American Heritage. 3. Keith J. Ruelle, Concert Band, Freshman, Sophomore, Mixed Chorus, Glee Band, Pit Band, Freshman Football, and Music Department Chairman. 4. The pep band plays at an assembly. 5. Betty M. Sargent, 3-D Design, 2-D Design, Fiber, SAC and Pep Club. 6. Carol J. Preston, Metal 1, Metal Fabrication, 2-D Design. 7. David Hietpas, Drawing, Painting, 2-D Design, Graphics, Ceramics and Dept. Head. 8. Painting class inspires creativity in Greg Savaglia. 9. Jean T. Jarosz, Introduction to Band.

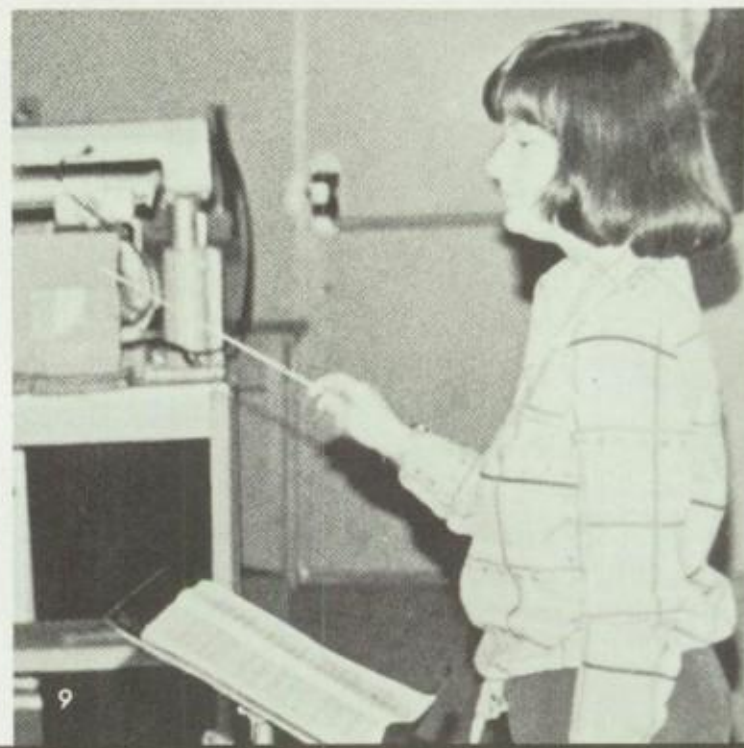

St. Catherine's Fine Arts department has more to offer than meets the eye. Having a large variety of courses to choose from helps students pick the class best suited for their field of interest. Courses in art range from 2-dimensional design to graphics. Color, composition and overall design elements are taught to students. Much of the students' work is displayed throughout the year at the Wustum Museum.

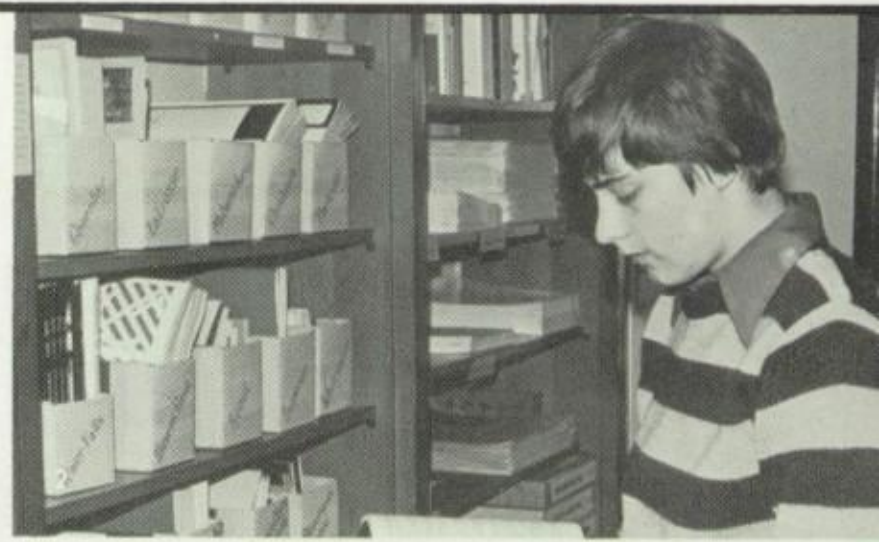

Dance and music classes also have a big part in helping develop the department. Concerts are put on throughout the year. The choruses, bands, and dance classes all participate.

The department extends into many different extra-curricular activities. One example is the variety of bands which play at different school events during the year, such as at the Spring Musical, games, and assemblies. Other types of activities in which students participate, are the St. Cat's singing ensembles. The singing ensembles have become popular entertainment for civic groups throughout the school year. There are also art contests where any interested art student is urged to enter. In recent years St. Cat's has been very successful.

The Fine Arts department takes great pride in offering opportunities to inspire students' interests. It is accomplished expertly with the teachers dedicated help and concern.

1. Jerome Garchek, Guidance Director, Boys Tennis Coach. 2. Jim Vertz uses guidance facilities. 3. Charles M. Wood, Guidance Counselor, asst. football coach, Boys Monogram Club, sophomore basketball coach, Jockstrip Advisor. 4. Barbara R. Kroupa, Guidance Counselor, Lance Advisor, Big Buddy Advisor. 5. Elaine Malmin, Secretary.

Guidance

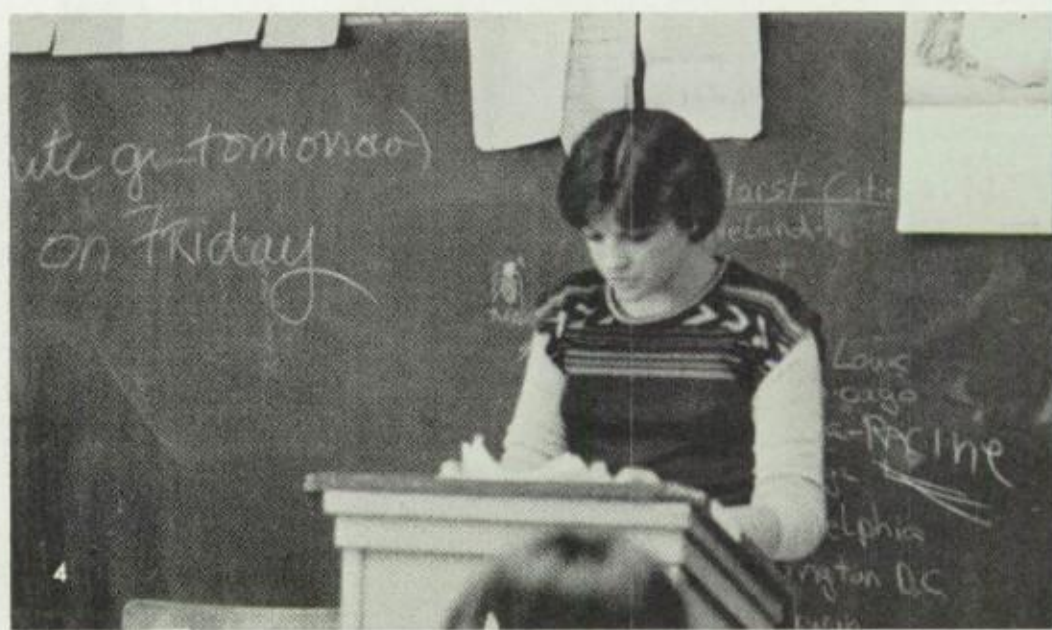

The Guidance Department serves students in providing career information, scheduling assistance and personal counseling. Its services consist of a Big Buddies program which helps freshmen adjust to high school life. Sophomores have a program covering decision making and evaluating students' skills and talents. Juniors take a Work Values Survey in early fall. This survey is followed by the Strong-Campbell Interest Survey. Counselors interpret and explain the results of the survey to students and encourage them to consider career choices. Besides individual counseling at the beginning of the school year and senior class receives further information about careers at the annual Co-Ap-Vo day in which at least 45 colleges and technical schools are represented. A two day spring seminar for seniors focuses on employment skills and provides the final touch to the career development program.

Besides offering assistance in planning for the future, the Guidance Department continually offers the student body the kind of individual support needed to cope with the everyday pressures of school.

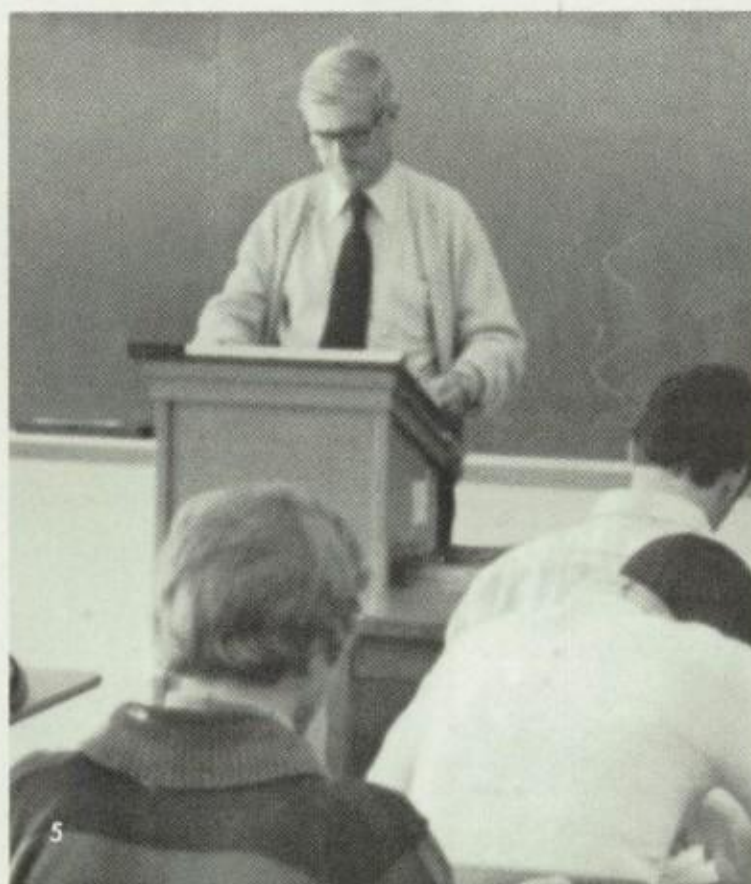

English

One of the most important aspects of the English Department is the concern for the students' growth and development in every area of communication. Every student is given the opportunity to develop an appreciation of the language arts by expressing personal feelings through drama or the written word. Not only do the students have the chance for personal expression, they also make a special contribution to SCHS by sharing their thoughts and creativity.

1. Rick Messina, American Prose, World Novel, American Heritage, Photo I, II, American Drama and Poetry, Faculty Negotiating Committee.
2. Tricia Hart, portrays an old woman in her Theater Arts class.
3. Sally Kearins, Reading Skills, English 311, 312, Creative Writing.
4. Lisa Kozlik delivers a speech on abortion in her communications class.
5. Hugh A. Otten, Communications, American Drama and Poetry, Mass Media.

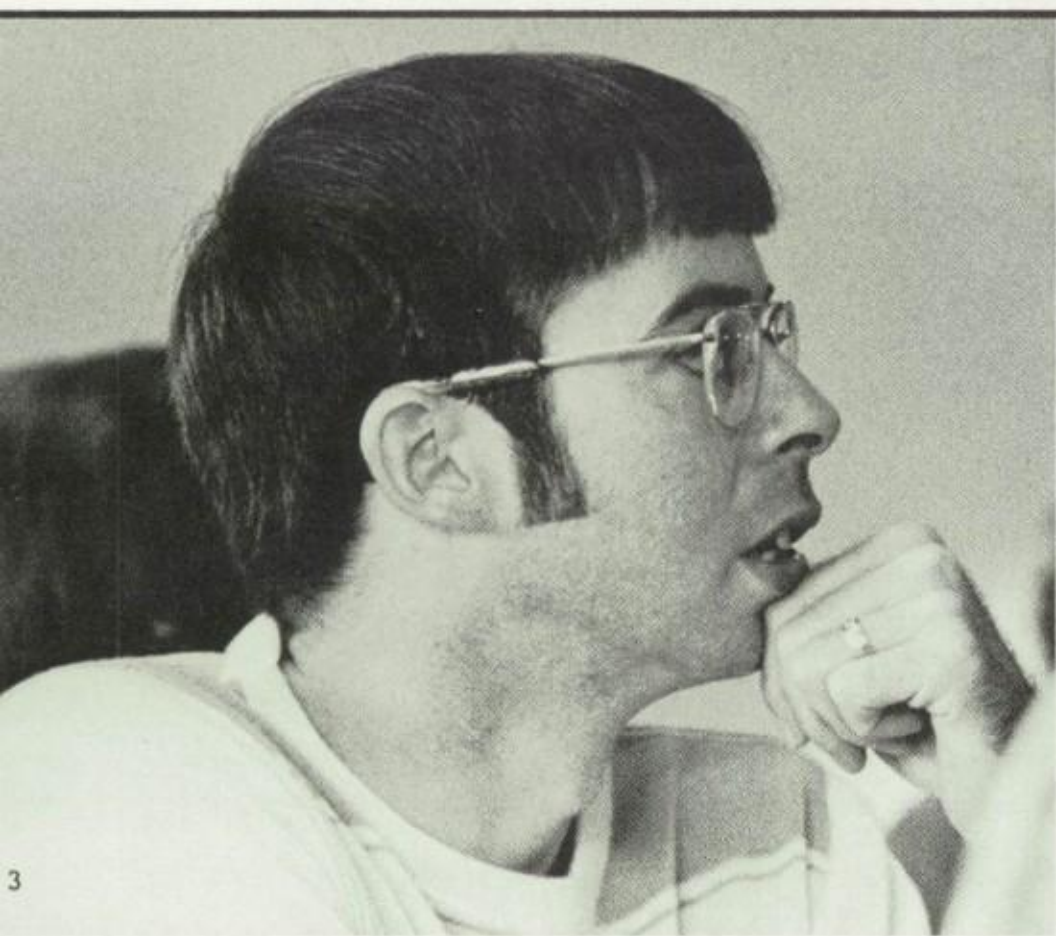

English

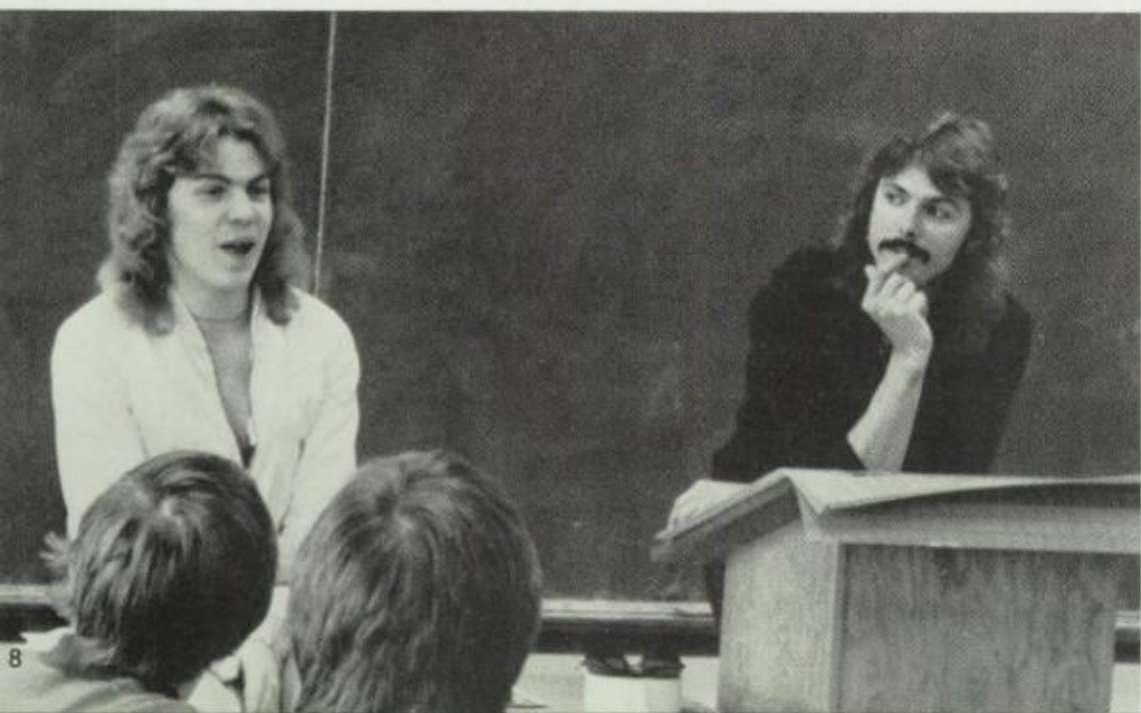

Encompassing the many values of communication, our English Department has something for everyone. The students are exposed to different characteristics of communication, such as the basic skills of writing and studying literature. Freshman English courses 311 and 312 deal with the basic elements of prose and poetry. Upon completing these courses students are able to choose classes matching their own interests. American Heritage and American Drama and Poetry are two elective courses available to sophomores. Both

1. Mary Suchla, "You write with the pencil, not chew it."
2. William F. Drummond, Mass Media, Film Arts, Communications, Asst. Football Coach, J.V. Baseball Coach.
3. Richard J. Gage, Composition, Creative Writing, Department Chairman, Junior Class Advisor, Freshman Football, Head Girls Track.

8. Two members of the Bad Boy's group speak to a Mass Media class.
9. Carol Rayala, English 311, 312, American Prose, Mass Media, Freshman Class Advisor.

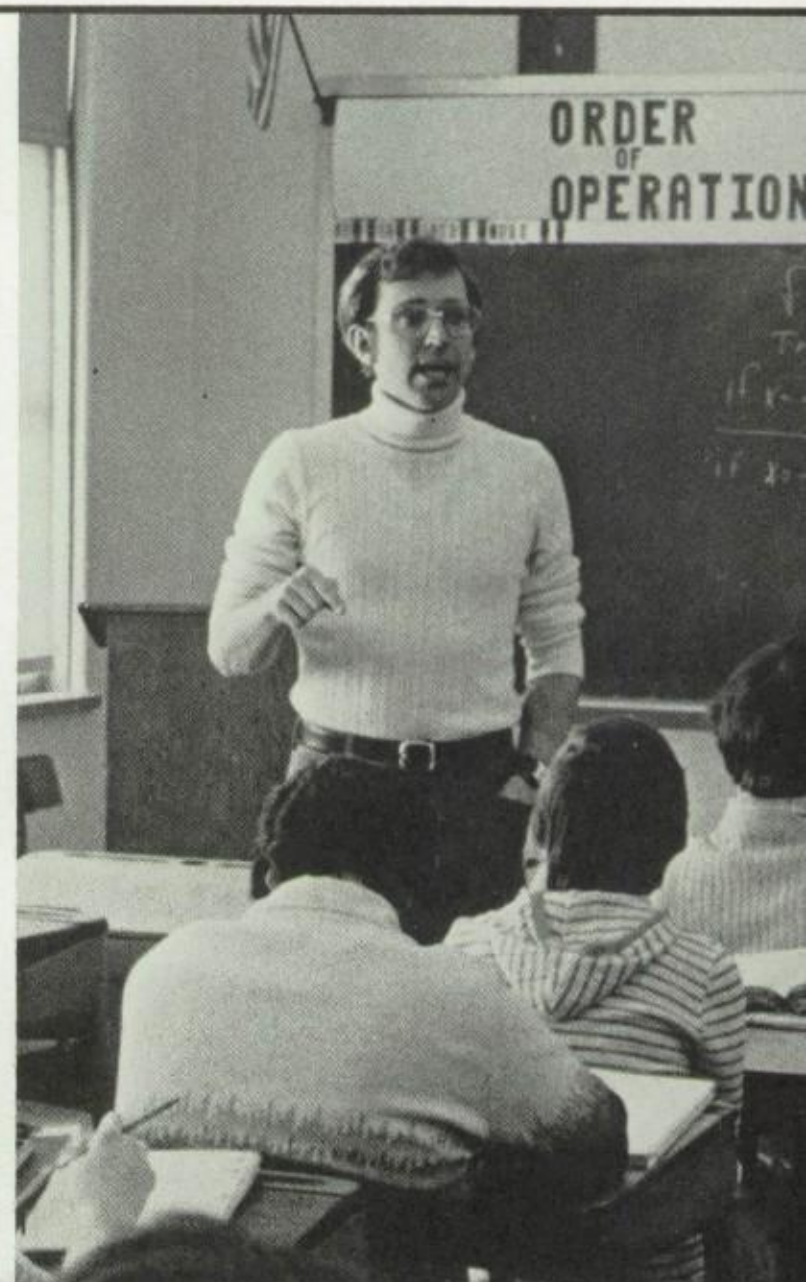

classes study the philosophies and styles of American writing. World Novel further broadens the students' understanding of the novel by interpreting the multiple levels of the genre. Students analyze the role that each media plays in society in their Mass Media classes. The writing skills taught in Composition are essential for developing college research papers. British Literature explores the writings and drama of England and is the latest addition to the electives offered by the English Department.

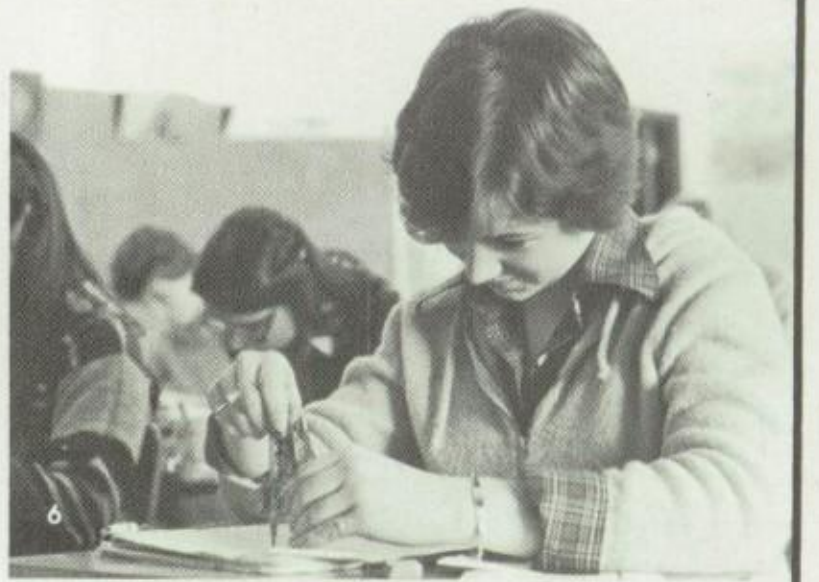

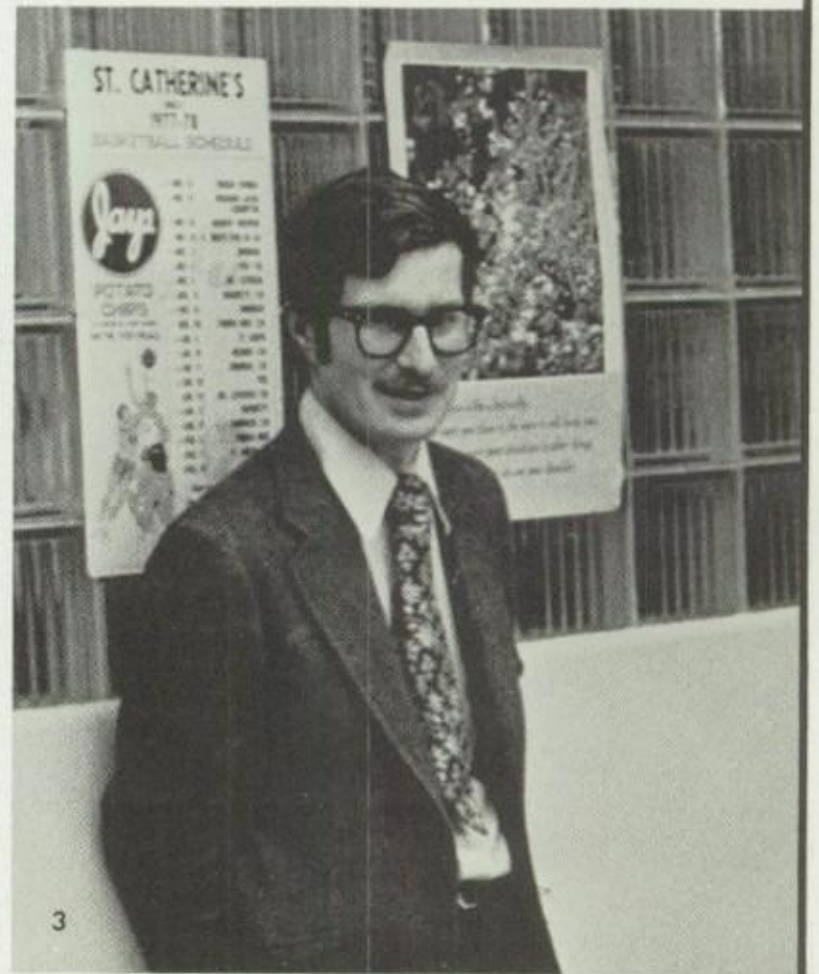

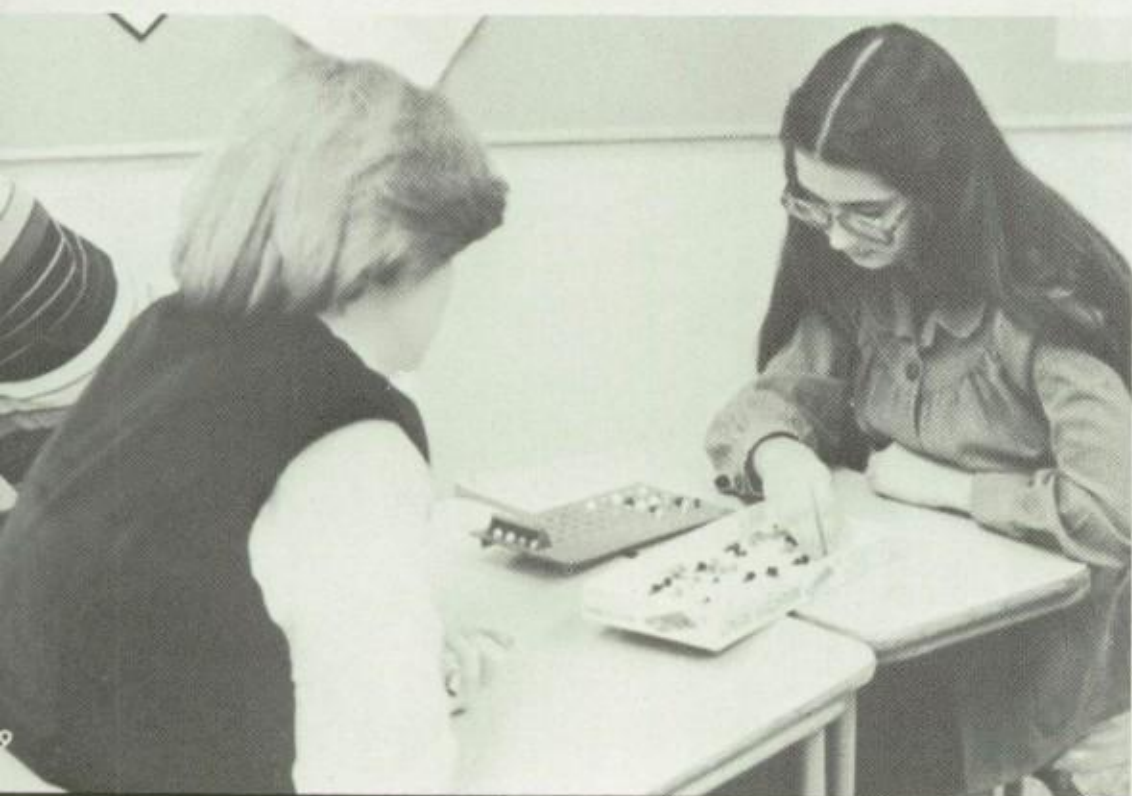

The Math Department strives to teach the students not only the "how" of mathematics, but also the "why." They hope that the students will learn a logical, step-by-step approach in solving mathematical problems. By teaching math in this manner the individual should be better prepared to apply his knowledge of math later in life.

The courses available to the students range from the very basic to the very complex. For the student who wants to learn the basics of math, there is General Math. For those who enjoy a challenge or wish to pursue a career in science, a Pre-Calculus class is offered. In keeping with the times, the math department has added a statistics course to its curriculum. Statistics have become an integral part of life, and the course was developed to help students understand figures and formulate their own probabilities.

Math

1. Norm Seeger, Algebra 1, 2, Ski Club Advisor, Faculty Representative to the Board.
2. Annette Wiesner, Algebra 1, Independent Algebra, Geometry, SAC member.
3. Mr. Kenneth Kiedrowicz, Geometry, Algebra 2 and Trig, Statistics, and Probability, SAC member.
4. Sister Mary Frances Willcoxson O.P. Pre-calculus Mathematics, General Math, Head of Mathematics Department, Co-Advisor Pep Club.
5. Kim Schauer, Cindy Schauer, Sandy Carreno exercise their thumb muscles to avoid cramps when they use their compasses.
6. Betsy Kerr measures angles and draws circles with her compass in Geometry class.
7. Mary M. Olson, Geometry, Tech Math 1, 2, 3, 4, Intro to Logic.
8. Joan Qualley, Algebra 1.
9. Joanne Olson and Tina Malanche challenge each other to a game of Master Mind.

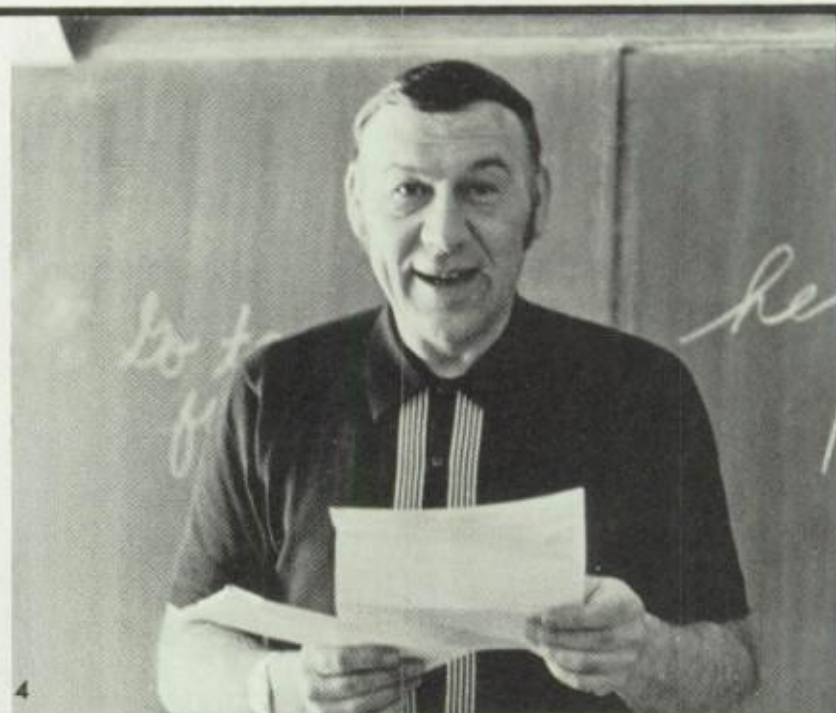

Religion

The purpose of the Religion Department is to provide information and opportunities for Christian formation. A variety of courses are offered to maintain a balance between traditional and modern philosophies. Here at SCHS religion is more than academics. The religion faculty works hard to keep classes current, stimulating, and thought-provoking. The department not only teaches the essentials of Catholic beliefs but also asks the questions that will inevitably surface as the students grow older. Freshman year, SCHS students begin by gaining a better understanding of themselves and the Catholic faith through the Challenge course. The teachers' concern for Christian decision making and responsibility among today's students initiated Morality, a semester course that is required for sophomores. Most juniors enroll in the World Order class which studies world relations. Seniors prepare themselves for a better understanding of the adult world through Social Psychology. Religious development is not just a four-year process, but a lifetime goal.

1. Pat DaPra puzzles over his concept of death as Tom Carlson busily creates his in clay for the Death and Dying class.
2. Thomas A. Gagliano, Social Psychology, OK with TA, World Religions.
3. The Challenge Class proves that synergism is at work.
4. Fr. Anthony Slosar, Social Psychology, Golf Coach.
5. Judith L. Morrill, Morality, World Justice and Peace, Jesus.
6. Senior Psychology classes traded Gagliano goombas that tested their ability to survive in the world.

9. Lynn Neu, Death and Dying, World Religions West, Prayer, Morality, Religion Department Chairman, Red Cross Club Advisor, (also pictured, Alex Vodenlich).

1. For shame Bonnie Litton, you know better than to peek at the keys. 2. Sr. Iva Marie Fitzgerald, Shorthand 1A and 1B, Personal Typing, General Business, Accounting. 3. Morley Torgerson, Personal Typing, Typing 1B, Business Law, Business Management, Asst. Wrestling Coach, Asst. Boys Track Coach. 4. James Welsh, Business English, Personal Typing, Business Law, Typing 1A and 1B, Clerical Office Practice, Department Head, Asst. Football Coach, Head Wrestling Coach. 5. Kay Jakubowski types 65 words a minute while using the dictation machine. 6. Jeanne Baumstark efficiently operates the off-set machine in Secretarial Office Practice. 7. Susan M. LaBoda, Shorthand 2, Secretarial Office Practice, Accounting 1 and 2, Typing 2, Pom-Pon Advisor, Sophomore Class Advisor. 8. Cindy Hansen and Joanne Olson perfect their secretarial skills as they utilize the folding machine.

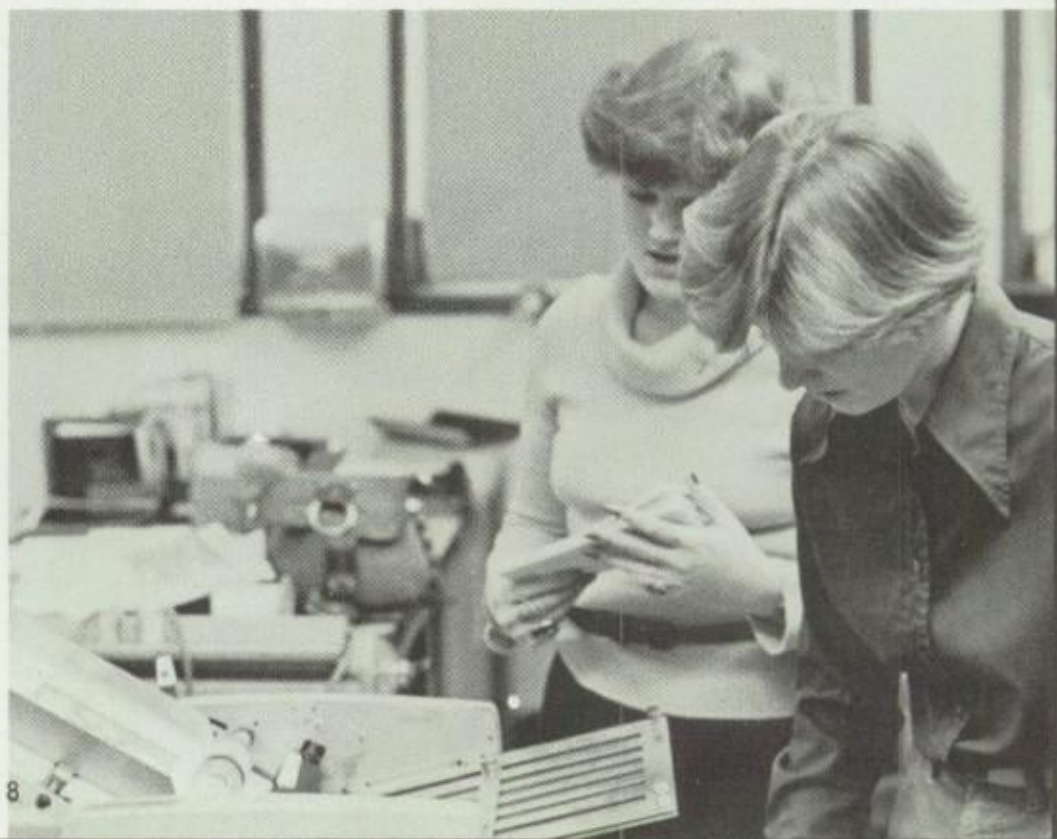

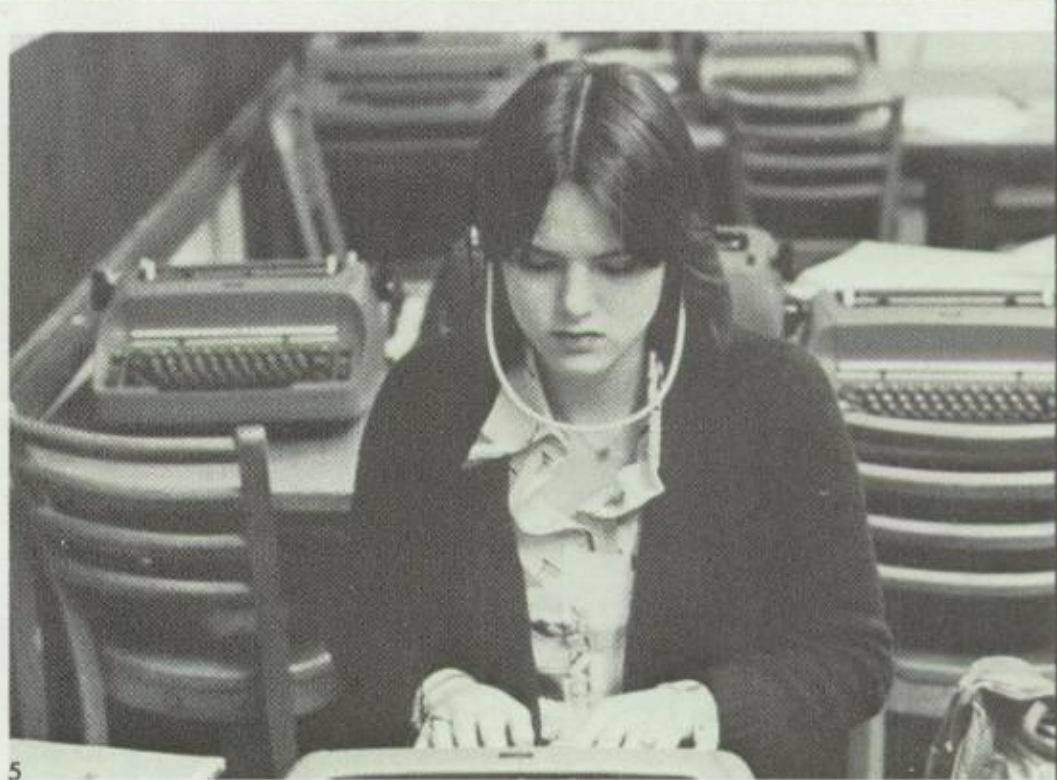

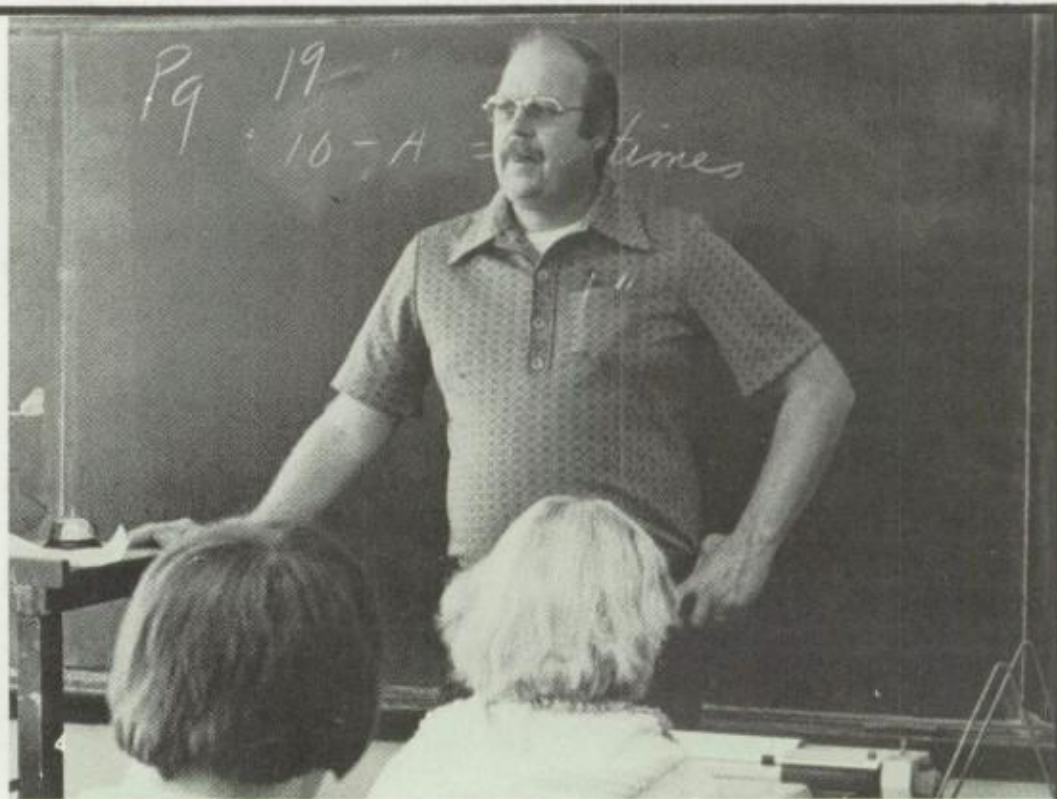

Business

The Business Department believes that it should provide opportunities for students to assume responsibilities which they will face in the business world, and to display a spirit of cooperation and leadership in civic, social, and religious areas. Students are supplied with knowledge, skills, and aptitudes needed to meet standards for office practice. The Business Department of St. Catherine's is recognized as being a good one; often area businesses call upon St. Catherine's when looking for part — or full-time employees.

A new course, Accounting 2, was added to the curriculum this past year. As an independent class it is designed to help students interpret accounting information from given data. There is a variety of secretarial classes offered which provide interested students with ability in taking shorthand, and improving their typing skills.

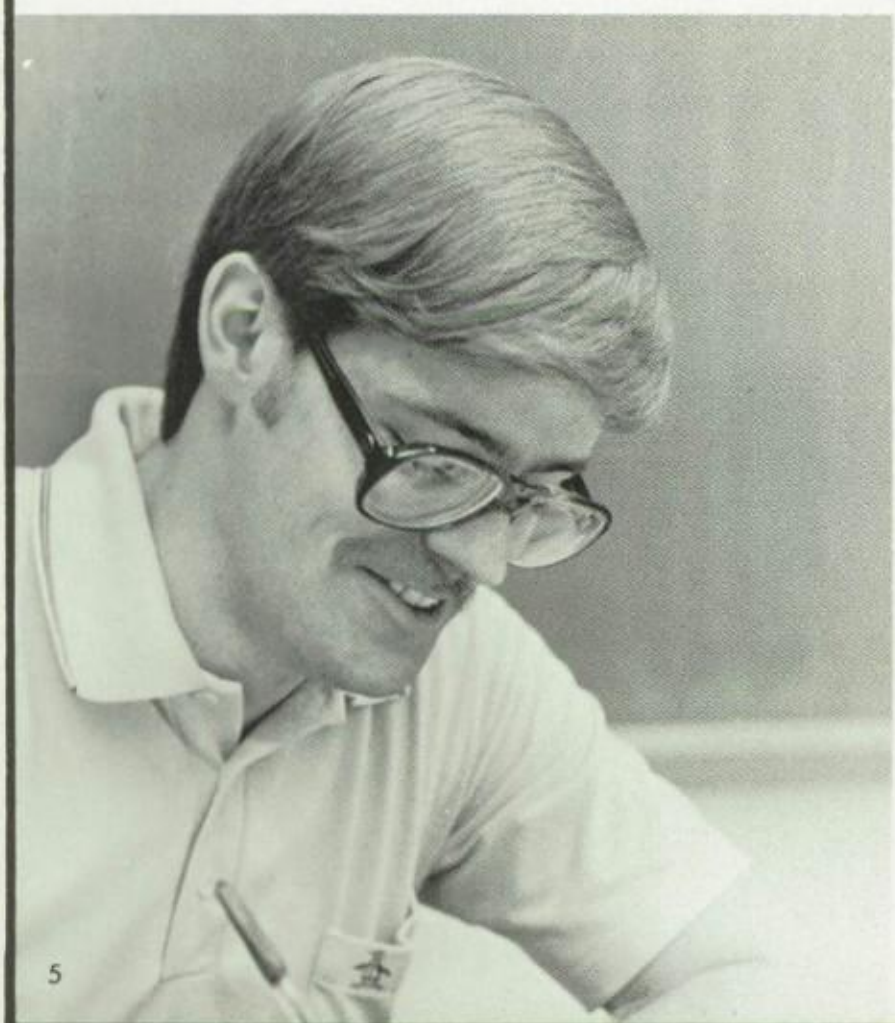

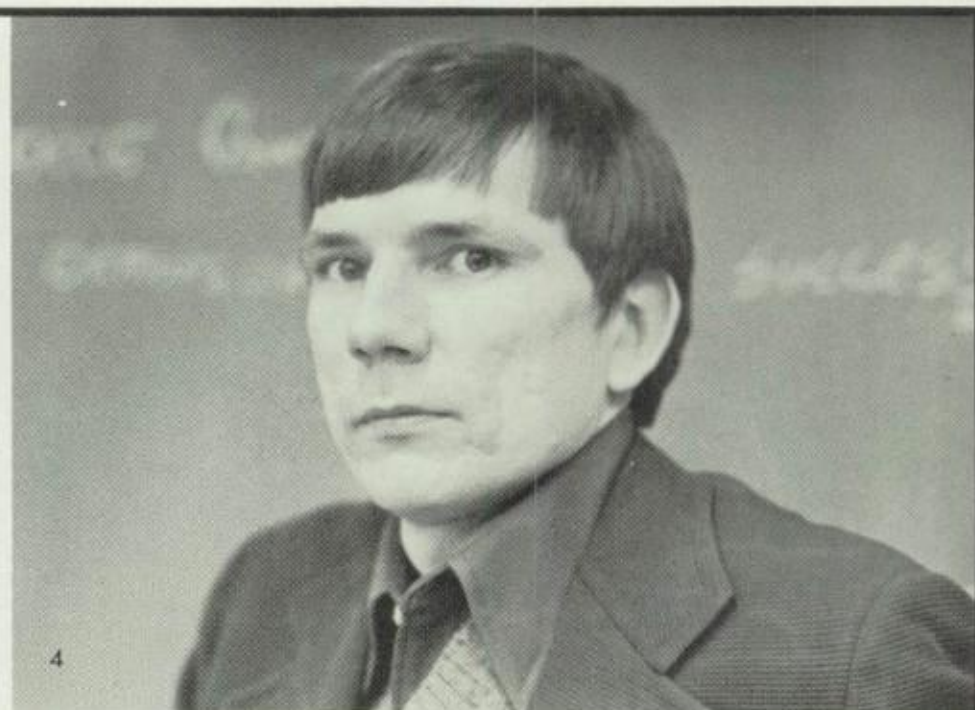

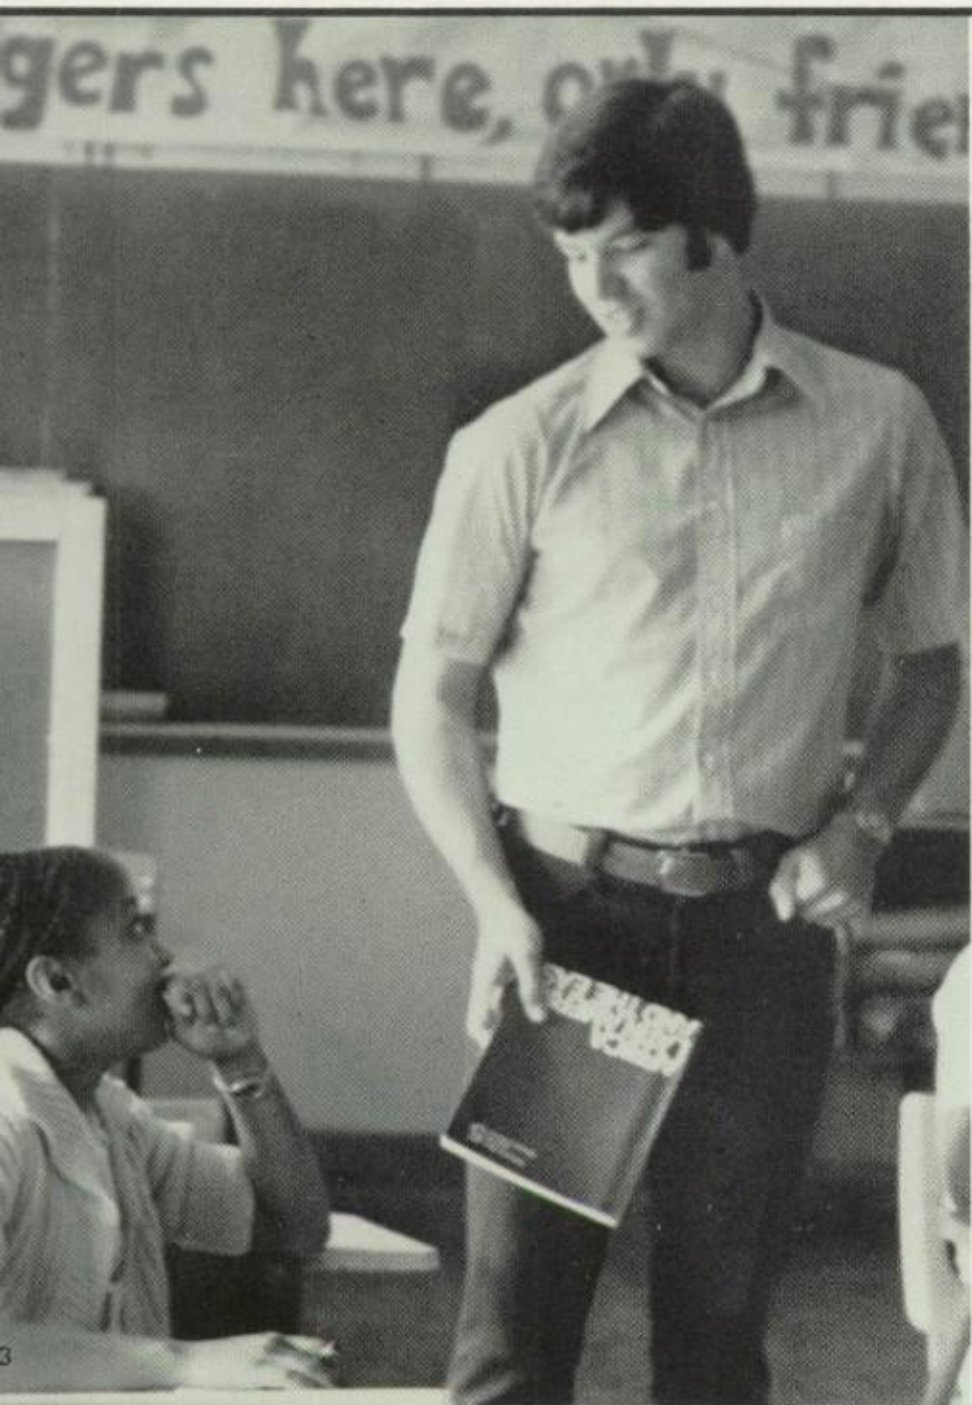

The general aim of the Social Studies Department is to provide students with a background that will enable them to understand the course of events that have brought us to today. Designed to encourage students' questioning, ideas, and opinions, the social studies classes promote student development toward a knowledge of the rights and responsibilities of citizenship. One objective of the department is to present a good basic course in U.S. History as required by state law.

Social Studies

2. Classmates portray their views of congressmen's reactions as Rocky Tirabassi acts as "Speaker of the House" in American Political Process Class.
3. Jeff Pulda, Third World, Freshman Physical Education, Freshman Basketball Asst. Coach.
4. Michael G. O'Brien, U.S. History 1, 2, 3, Varsity Baseball Coach.
5. Thomas J. Scheller, U.S. History 1, 2, 3, Consumer Education, American Political Process, Boys' Cross Country Head Coach, Boys' Track Head Coach.
6. Sister Grace Smith, U.S. History 2, European History, Minorities, World Geography, Social Studies Department Chairperson.
7. Wally Lester gazes at the board of notes in Mr. O'Brien's history class and wonders why he never took shorthand.

Besides the required courses, alternating classes include Consumer Education and Wisconsin Political Process. Electives such as Minorities and European History are offered to round out the department, forming a balanced program. Each student gets to know himself better, as he studies his past heritage, and gets to know and respect the heritage of others, also.

1. Lisa Londré demonstrates, to a Frosh tumbling class, how to maintain grace and poise while exercising.
2. Denise Hubbard stays in shape and tones her muscles on the leg stretcher.

6. John Monfeli shows the strain of pumping iron in Co-ed Weight Training Class.
7. Barb Schmidt, Girls Physical Education, Volleyball Coach, Girls Junior Varsity Basketball Coach, Softball Coach.

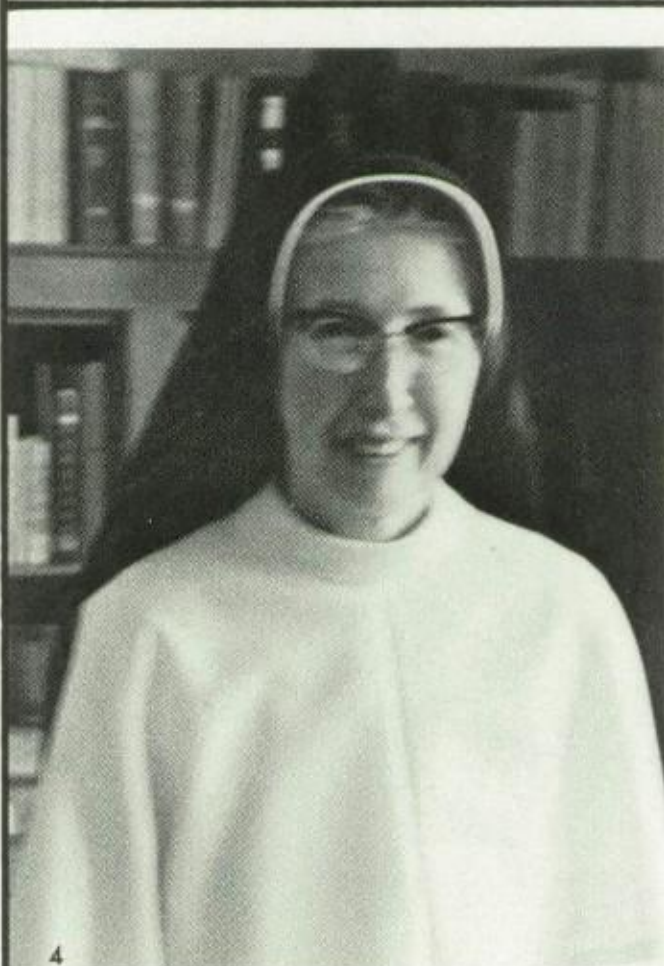

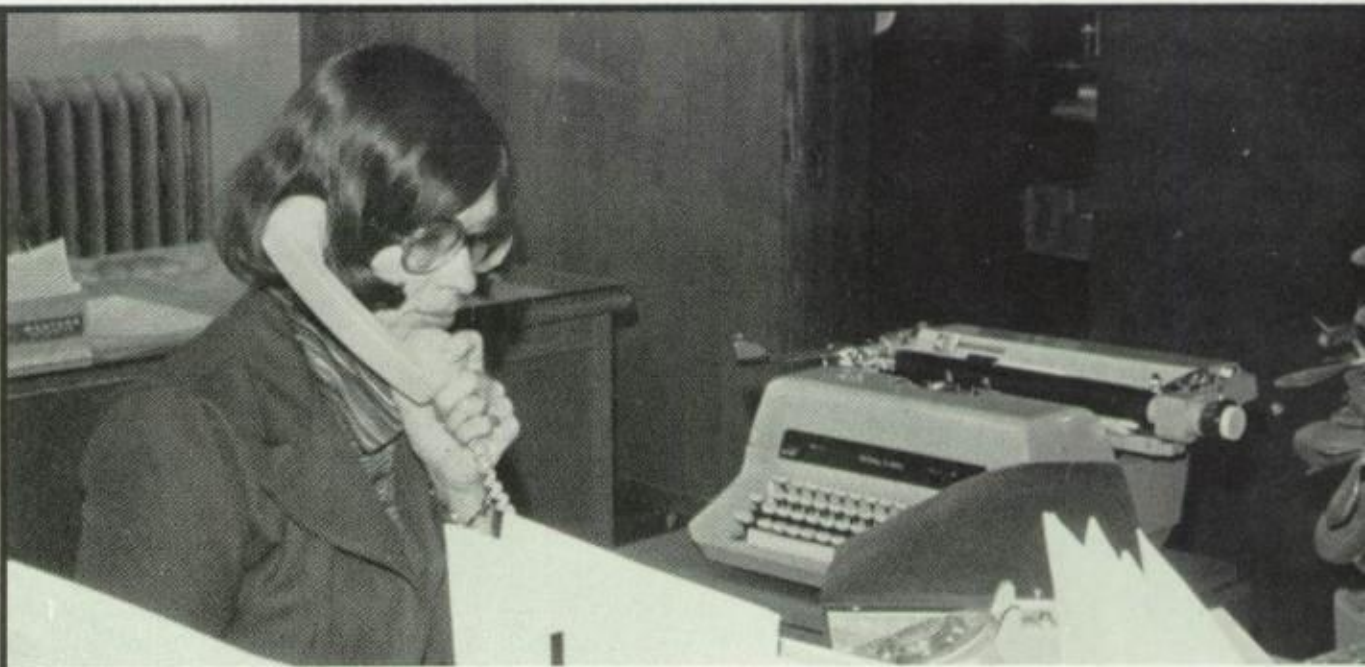

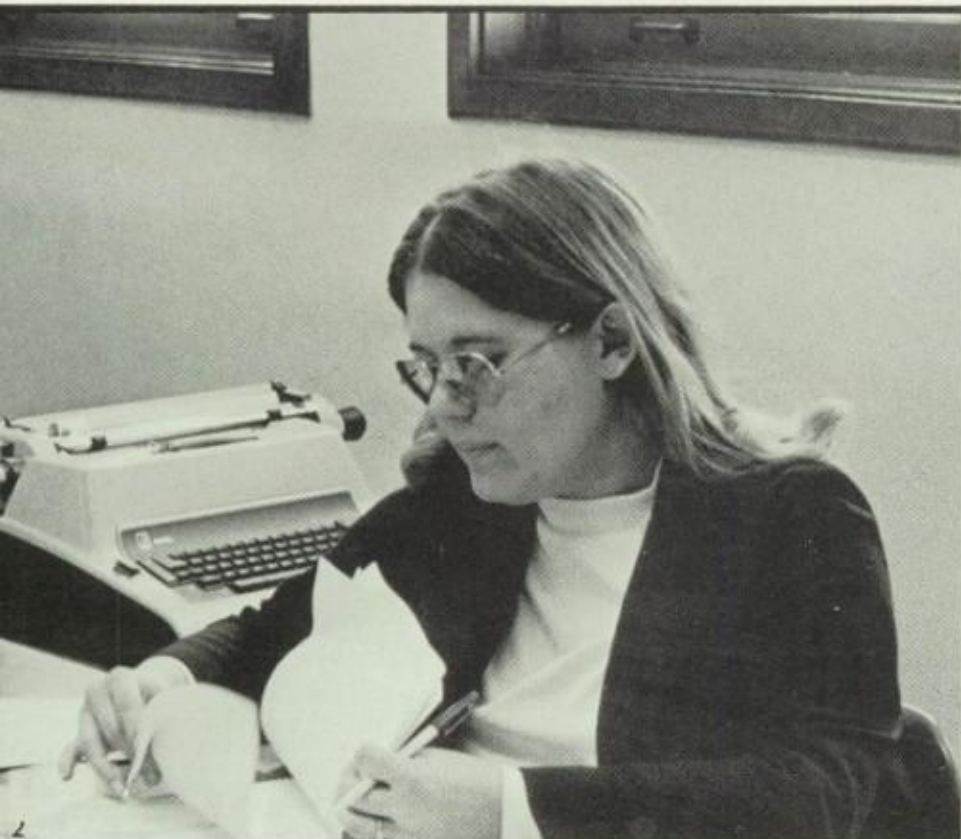

The Physical Education classes consist of diverse phases of physical activity. One year of phy-ed is required for freshman boys and girls. During this year, the basics are stressed and emphasis is placed on efficient use of the body. Advanced physical education for upper classmen deals with less instruction and more time on the actual activity. The students' progress in fitness skills is evaluated by varying test procedures. Co-ed weight training, a new course, was added this year. It was designed to develop muscular strength by means of a progressive body building system. Another opportunity the department offers, is the chance for upperclassmen to be gym assistants. Assistants, both boys and girls, must act in a leadership role. They must display this quality by officiating games, helping with class organization, and demonstrating skills. The SCHS Physical Education Department presents many options and activities for those interested in this field.

The main goal of the library is to support and complement the educational program at St. Cat's. The library staff provides interesting materials from several media and a variety of services for the students' learning experiences. They select materials from different religious, ethnic and cultural groups, taking into consideration the many capacities of the students. The librarians encourage suggestions and requests from students and teachers to keep up with the growing needs of the school.

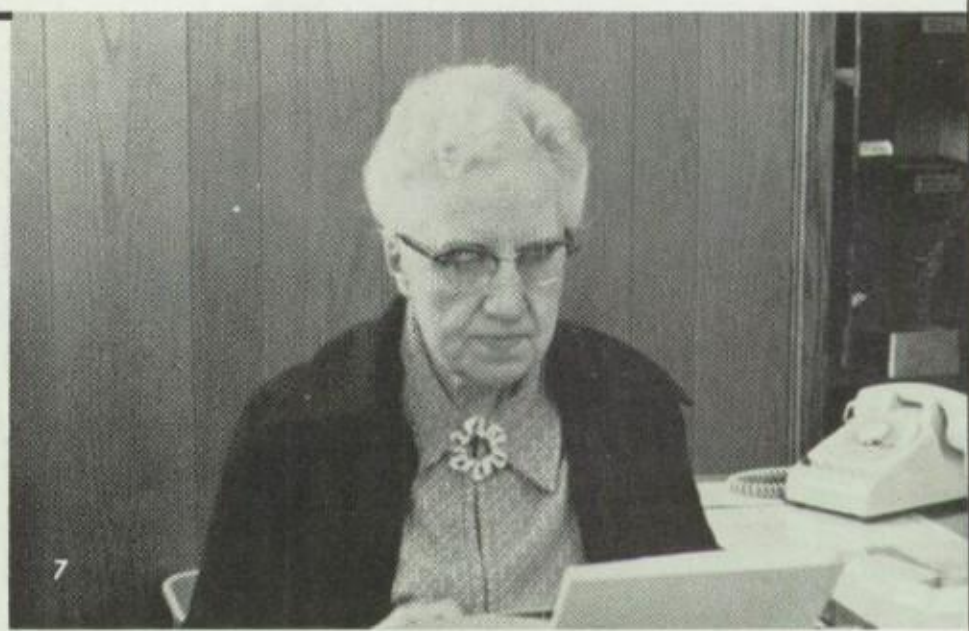

The office serves the administration, teachers and students, helping the school run smoothly. With only 10 members, the staff is kept busy with a variety of duties. Announcements, collecting tuition, keeping club financial records up to date, and recording the day's attendance are some of their services. They also cater to the needs of the faculty and administration with the use of their secretarial skills. Jobs range from Secretary to the Principal to Attendance Clerk, with each person working effectively to manage the school.

1. Nancy Frank, Receptionist.
2. Jeanine Carroll, Secretary to the Principal.
3. Bobbie Macewicz, Financial Treasurer.
4. Sr. Anne Neumeier, Head Librarian.

Maintenance

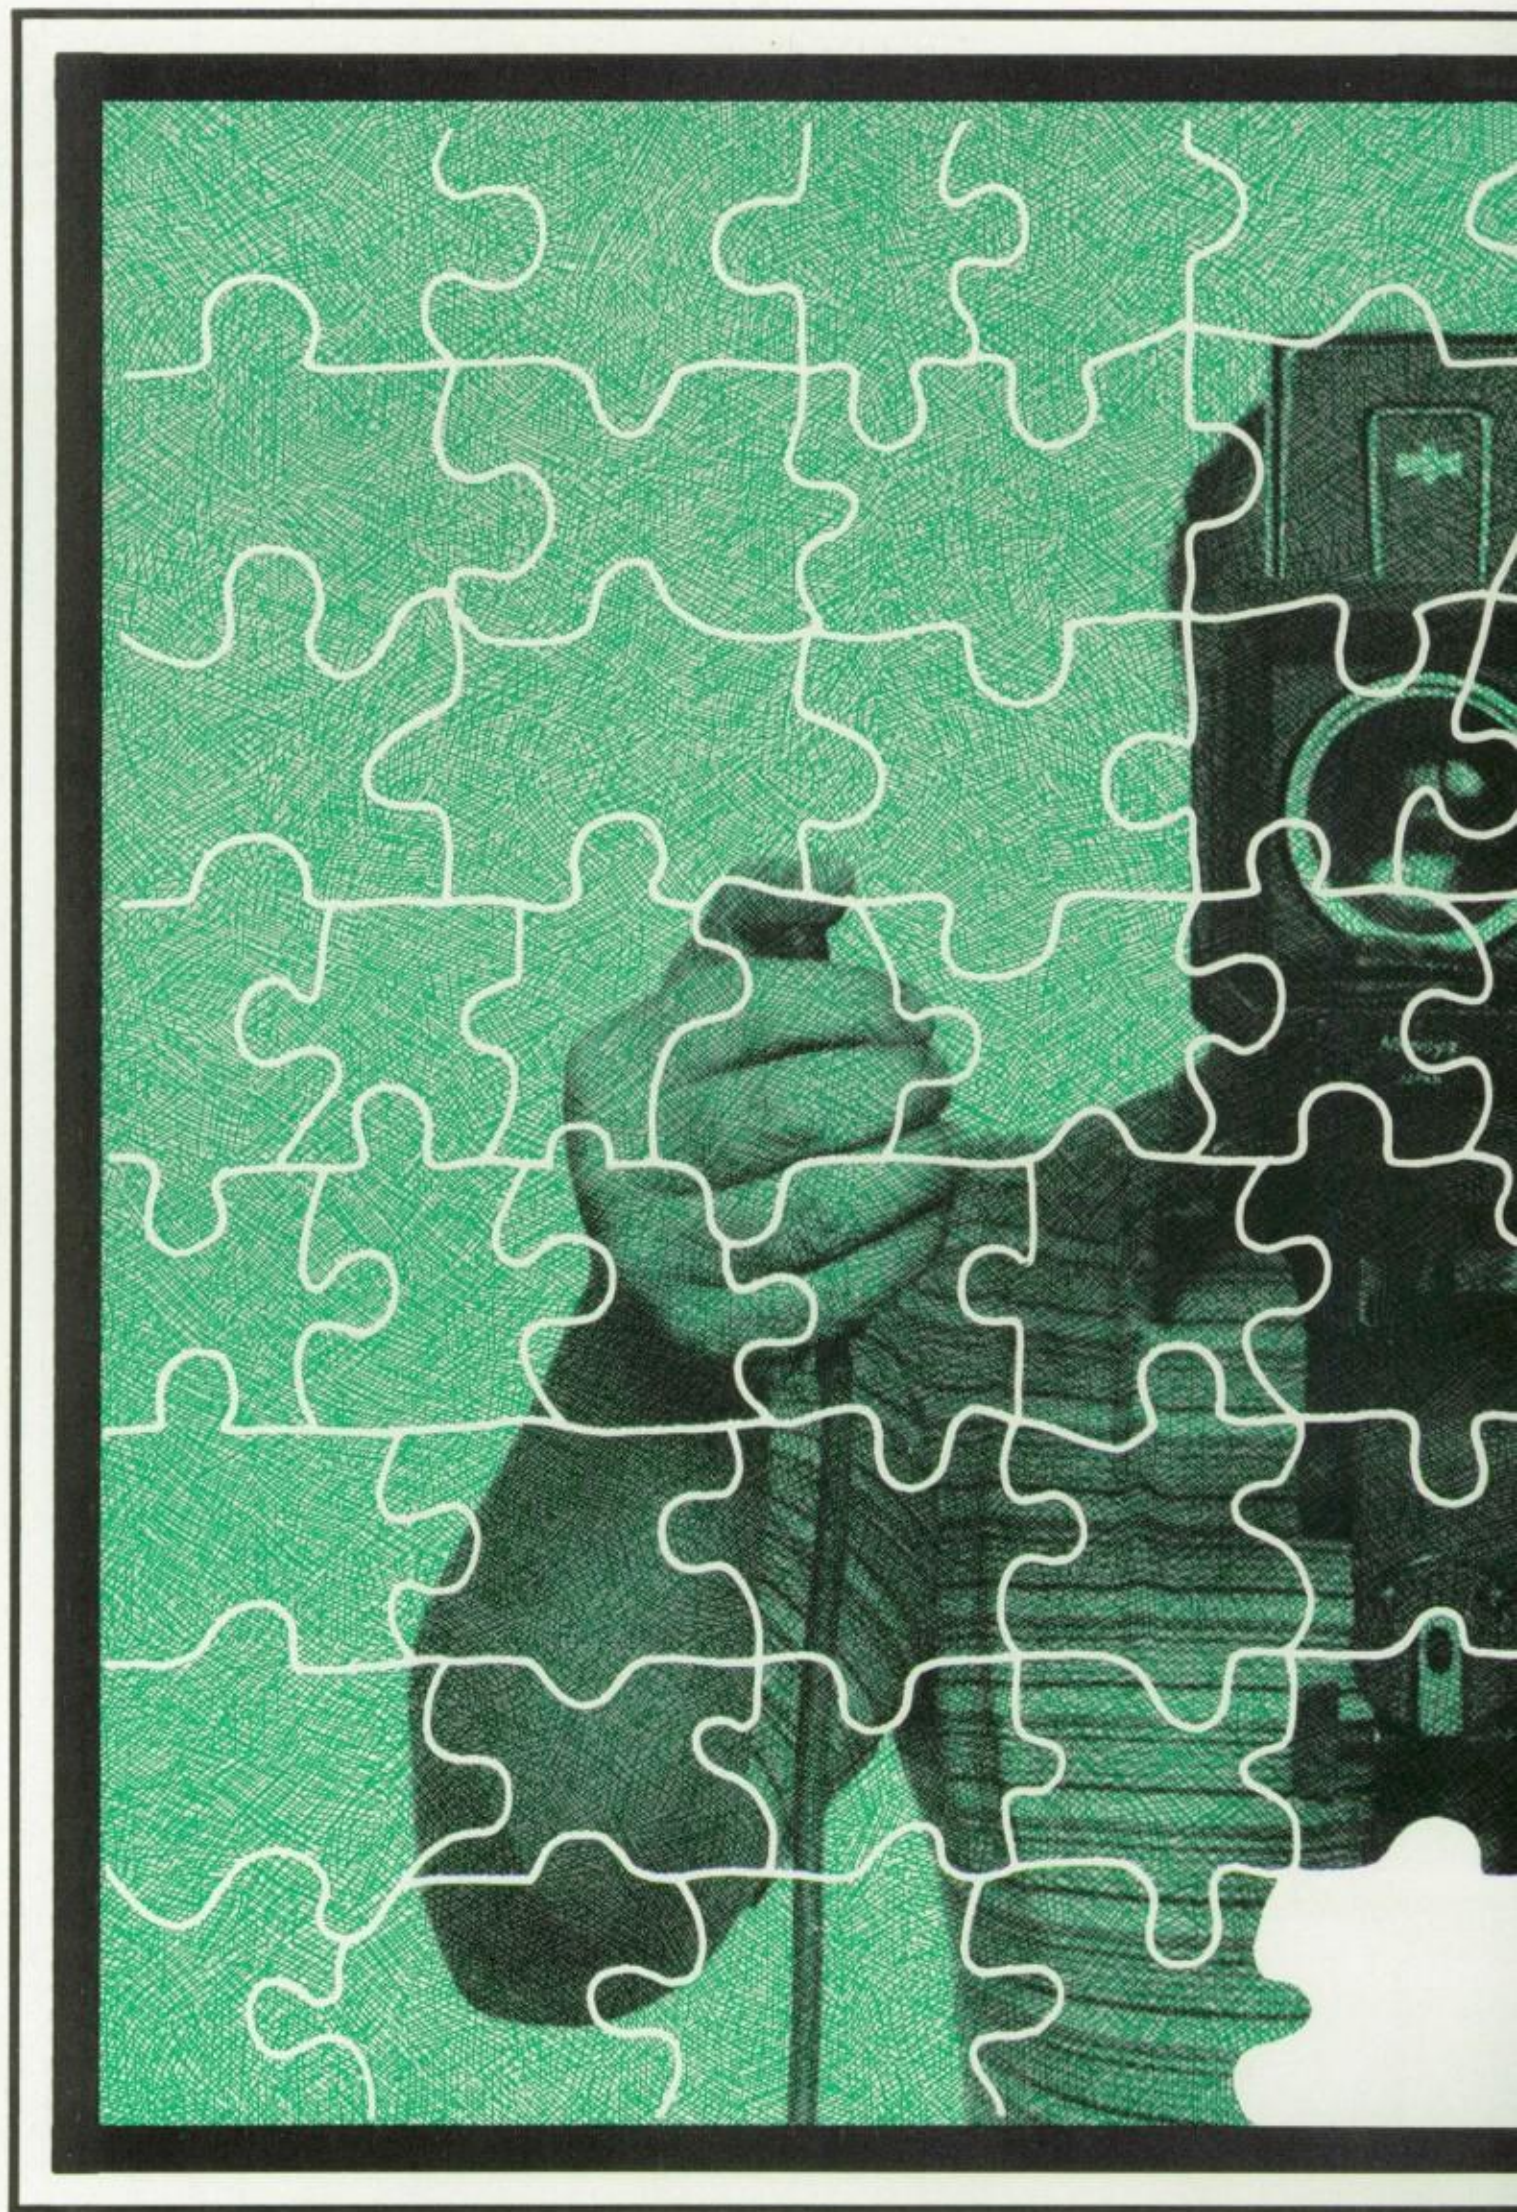

Cafeteria

The Maintenance Staff faithfully keeps the school's equipment and facilities in good repair. Along with the help of student workers, the staff puts in many extra hours after school sweeping, dusting, and cleaning.

The responsibility of satisfying both junk food junkies and health nuts, is successfully handled by some very dedicated ladies every day in our cafeteria. The Cafeteria Staff's combined experience of over thirty-two years makes the awesome task of preparing food for over 1000 students appear easy.

Girls Cross Country

The cross country season spans from the dry heat of summer to the chill and damp of autumn. However, no matter what the weather brought, the Angel runners proved to be successful. Starting out the early season extremely well, the girls captured first place in the Roncalli Invitational in Manitowoc. When the end of October came, Most Valuable Runner and Team Captain honors went to Sharon Riddler. Tammy Howard and Jean Dougard were named to the All-County second team. This year Marla Bodnar joined with second year coach Lenny Marsh, in guiding the girls and preparing them for all aspects of running.

...well... I'll remember ya as the one who always had to wear her "CASE" hat for "good luck" no matter how hot it got. Take care

Boys Cross Country

Distance running requires physical strength and determination, but more importantly mental commitment. Success in running is not only measured in statistics, but in personal satisfaction and the continual process toward a personal goal which are far more important. Besides hard work, close friendships and fun were part of this year's Cross Country team. By the end of the season, Coach Scheller had led his Angel runners to a 4th placing in the WISAA State meet and guided three of his harriers to All-County team honors. Jim Orsted was awarded "most valuable runner" and Jon Stonehouse was voted team captain. The endurance and individual sacrifices payed-off for everyone.

Football

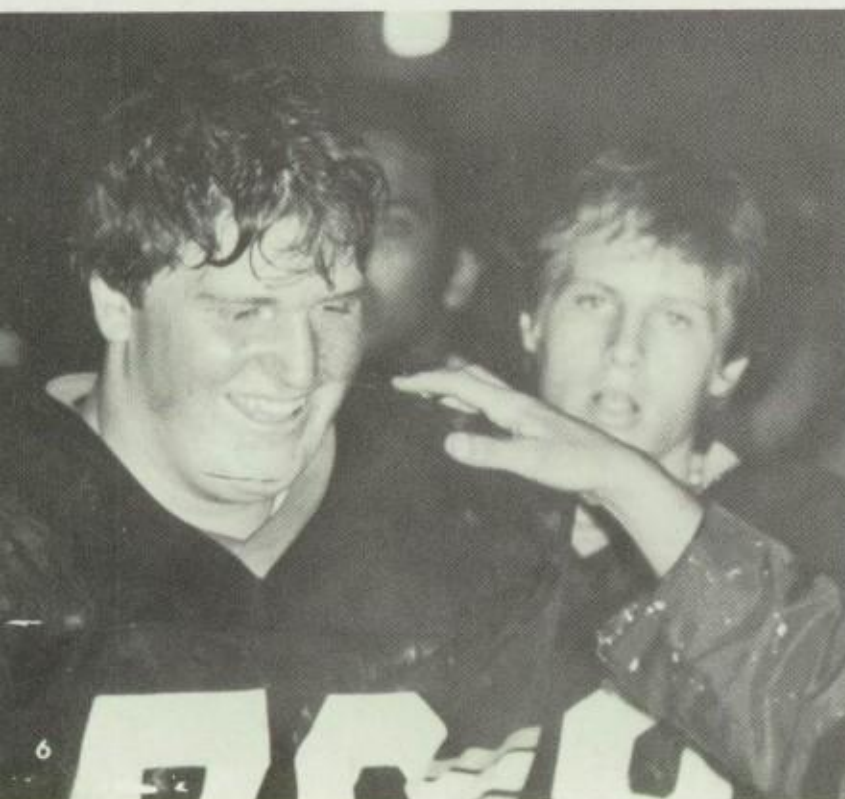

Angel Football for the '77 season was some of the most exciting SCHS has ever seen. Enthusiastic fans not only mobbed the home stands, but filled a record number of buses to attend the away games as well.

Close final scores and action filled games brought out the crowd and team spirit, but it was hard work and determination that earned the team title of conference champs.

Workouts, beginning in August, took place every day for two weeks and continued throughout the season, proving the players determination.

Todd Brigman, voted team captain and most valuable player, along with Dan Stuebe who was chosen best offensive lineman, added to the strength of the angel team.

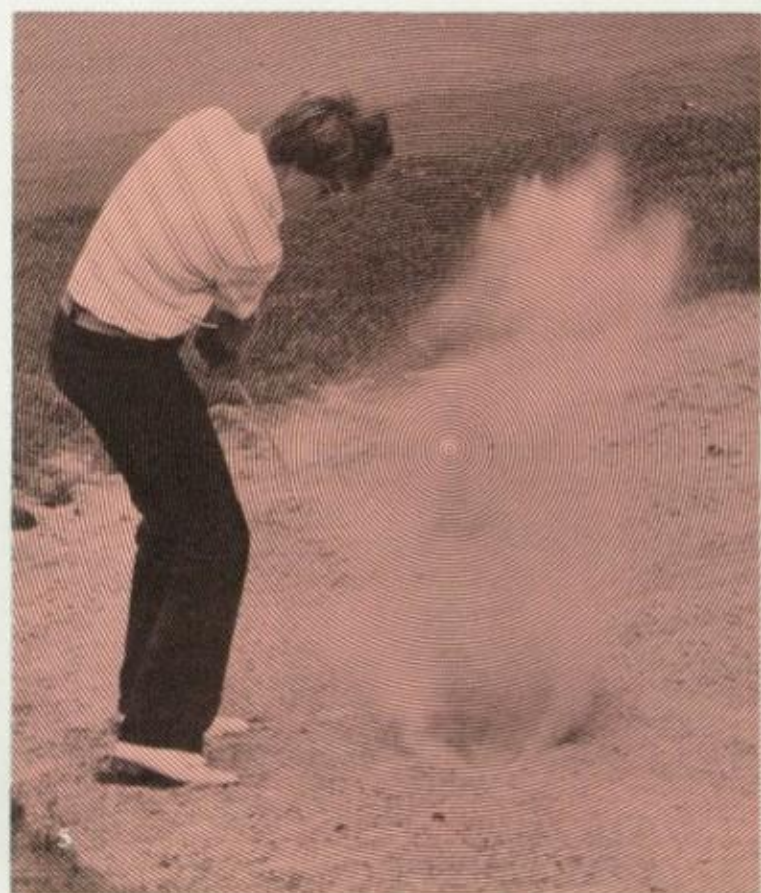

All of the players, however contributed their eagerness, optimism and devotion to the team making this year's season one of the most successful ever.

Golf

The SCHS golf team went into the 1977 season swinging smooth. They fought hard and played well for their Varsity average of 168, seven points lower than their opponent's, and a J.V. average of 179. As humorous as they were skilled, the '77 team was one of a kind, especially this year. For the first time in the history of SCHS, the team went co-ed with Missy Kaufmann being its first female on the course. Varsity's season was topped off by a 10-4 record, while the J.V. record was 12-2.

Girls Tennis Team

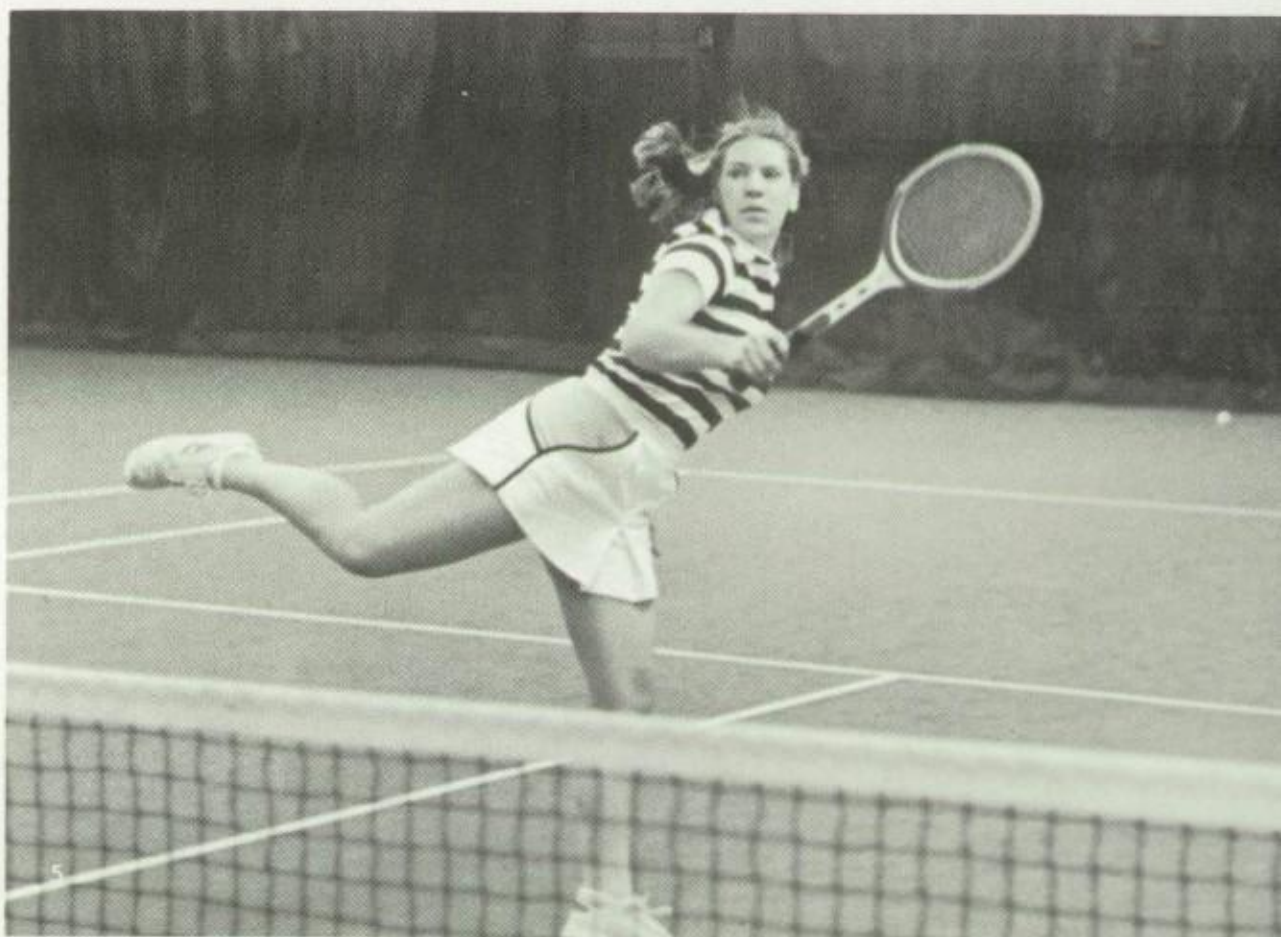

The Angels Girls Tennis Team finished the season 5-5 overall and 4-3 in their conference. Senior Meg Mayer led the team at No. 1 singles, with juniors Cheryl Bukacek and Sarah Murray at No. 1 doubles. The team finished second in the Conference Tournament with a fine showing from Junior Kim Severson who placed first in singles competition along with Bukacek and Murray placing second. Although some wish the season had gone better, the Angel Netters ranked third in their Conference standings.

Girls Volleyball

Varsity Volleyball finished 12-18 overall in the Metro Conference and captured second place in the County Tournament. It was a young team, with a new coach and only two returning letterwomen. Sharon Ruetz, the only senior, was voted Team Captain and Most Valuable Player. The girls worked hard as a team and had improved noticeably by the end of the season.

Girls' Basketball

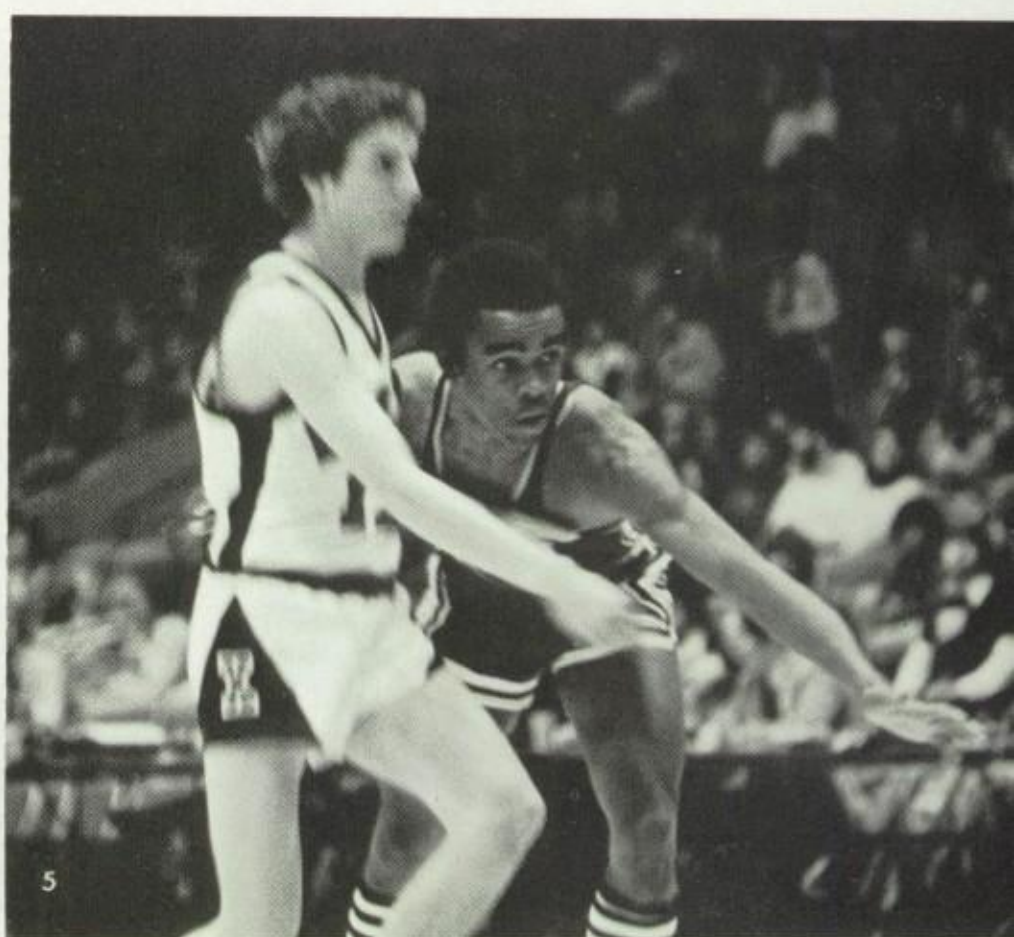

The 1978 Girls' Basketball Team's will and dedication, along with the expertise of returning Varsity Coach Miss Poulson, helped lead the team to a third place position in State. The Varsity team consisted of six juniors and six sophomores. Leading the Angels were Missy Kaufmann (junior) and Margie Ruetz (sophomore). During the tourney weekend, Missy set a new state record for free throws while Margie set a new state record for the highest number of points scored in a single game at state.

Boys Basketball

Following a State Championship year, the Boys Basketball season was somewhat disappointing. Often it appeared as if time worked against the Angels who lost many exciting, close games. The fans still had a good time, especially when participating in The Silent Cheer created by a few senior boys. Senior Jai Mahone, Racine County Player of the Year, led the team in scoring with a game average of 20 points. The Angels defeated St. Bonaventure and St. Joseph in Regional play, winning the chance to advance to the State Tournament. The team lost its first tournament game to Appleton-Xavier, ending the season with an overall record of 12-11.

Wrestling

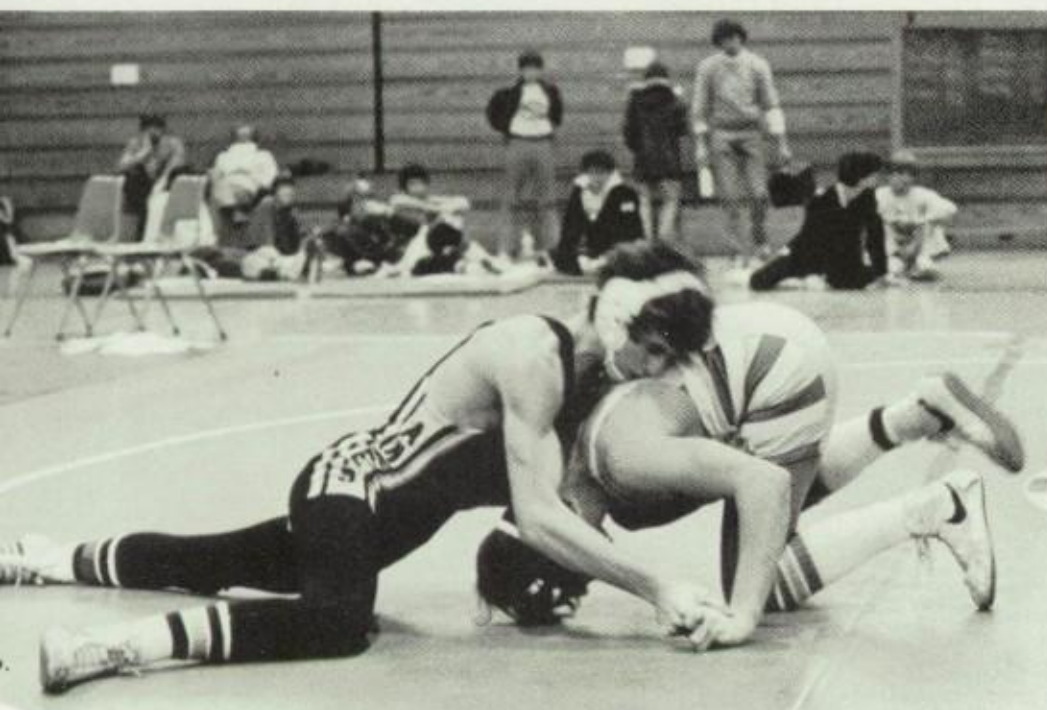

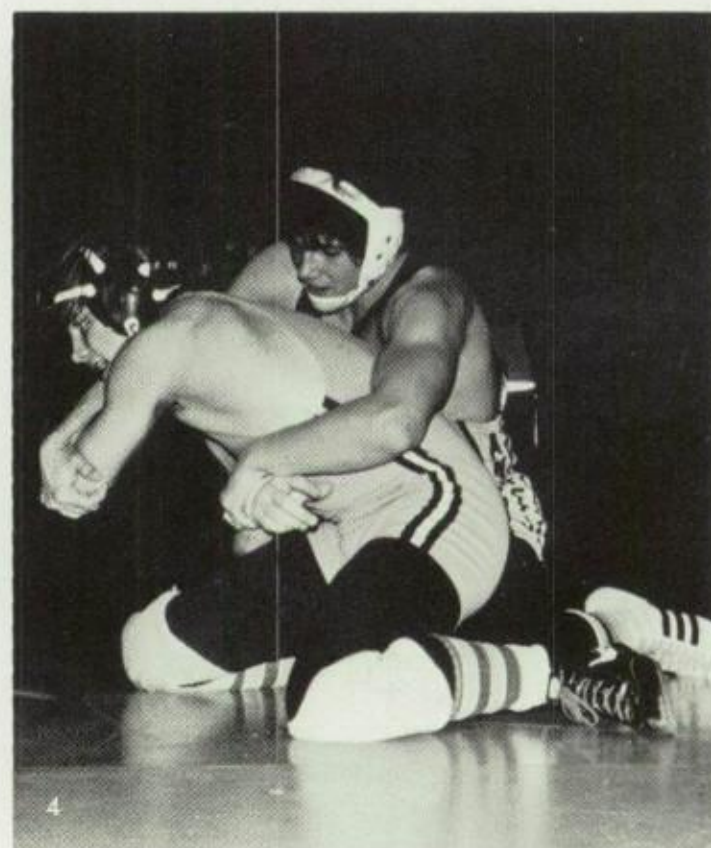

A lot of self-control and long strenuous hours go into wrestling. The 1978 Wrestling Team did not do as well as hoped, but their encouragement and faith in each other helped lead 6 out of the 14 SCHS wrestlers to state with 2 placing.

Senior and team captain Fred LaCourt, captured the state title in the 126 lb. weight class along with junior Gary Haas who placed 3rd in the 155 lb. weight class. Other tournaments in which the Angels placed were:

- 2nd — Martin Luther
- 4th — Wisc. Lutheran
- 8th — Racine Invitational
- 7th — Conference
- 4th — Regional

Girls Softball

The Girls Softball Team overcame their initial inexperience under the guidance of new coach Barb Schmidt. Because there were only five returning players, more freshmen started than in the past. Despite the injury of a valuable player at the season opener, the consistency of the pitching improved and the infield tightened up. As the season advanced, the girls continued to win and at one point they were tied for second in conference.

Baseball

The Angels stepped up to bat, bringing home a first game victory. Predominantly seniors, the team continued to satisfy Coach O'Brien's expectations with their overall performance. As the season progressed, their fielding improved and compensated for a lack of offensive punch. The team effectively capitalized on their opponents' mistakes, resulting in a sizeable number of victories. The Angels expected a third place finish in conference.

Boys Tennis

The Boys' Tennis Team experienced its first losing record in nine years, but like so many other Angel defeats, the losses were close, many of them in tie-breakers. Twelve of the twenty-four team members were freshmen, with Jerome Grant being the first freshman in ten years to occupy the No. 1 singles position. The team was fortunate in that the bad spring weather did not interfere with many of their matches. Coach Jerry Garchek commented that it's fun to be the coach of a team that has three redheads and always sings songs, even if they lose.

Girls Track

It was Dick Gage's first year as coach of the Girls Track Team and many discipline and workout changes were initiated. Practices were much harder and they paid off in the end as the girls began finishing with consistent times in their events. Field events and the 440 yd. dash were the core of the team's strength along with the mile relay usually adding a final edge for victory. Pius High School, the team's toughest competition, defeated St. Catherine's in the last event of the Girls' Indoor Conference Meet, forcing the team to finish second out of nine teams. Freshmen and sophomores outnumbered their competing upperclass teammates, developing the younger girls' talents much earlier than in previous years.

Boys Track

Track is a sport where the individual works on the skills necessary for all other sports. Although there were several impressive personal performances by senior, Jim Orsted, and juniors, Steve Piette and Kevin Henkes, this year's team as a whole, drastically lacked depth. The support of only two returning lettermen and vast inexperience kept the Angel runners from achieving any team victories. The coaching staff of Tom Scheller and first year assistant, Morley Torgerson, broke tradition by appointing junior Steve Piette as captain. Although the team's success was not evident in their statistics, many underclassmen benefited by participating in such a demanding sport.

Student Athletes "Go For It"

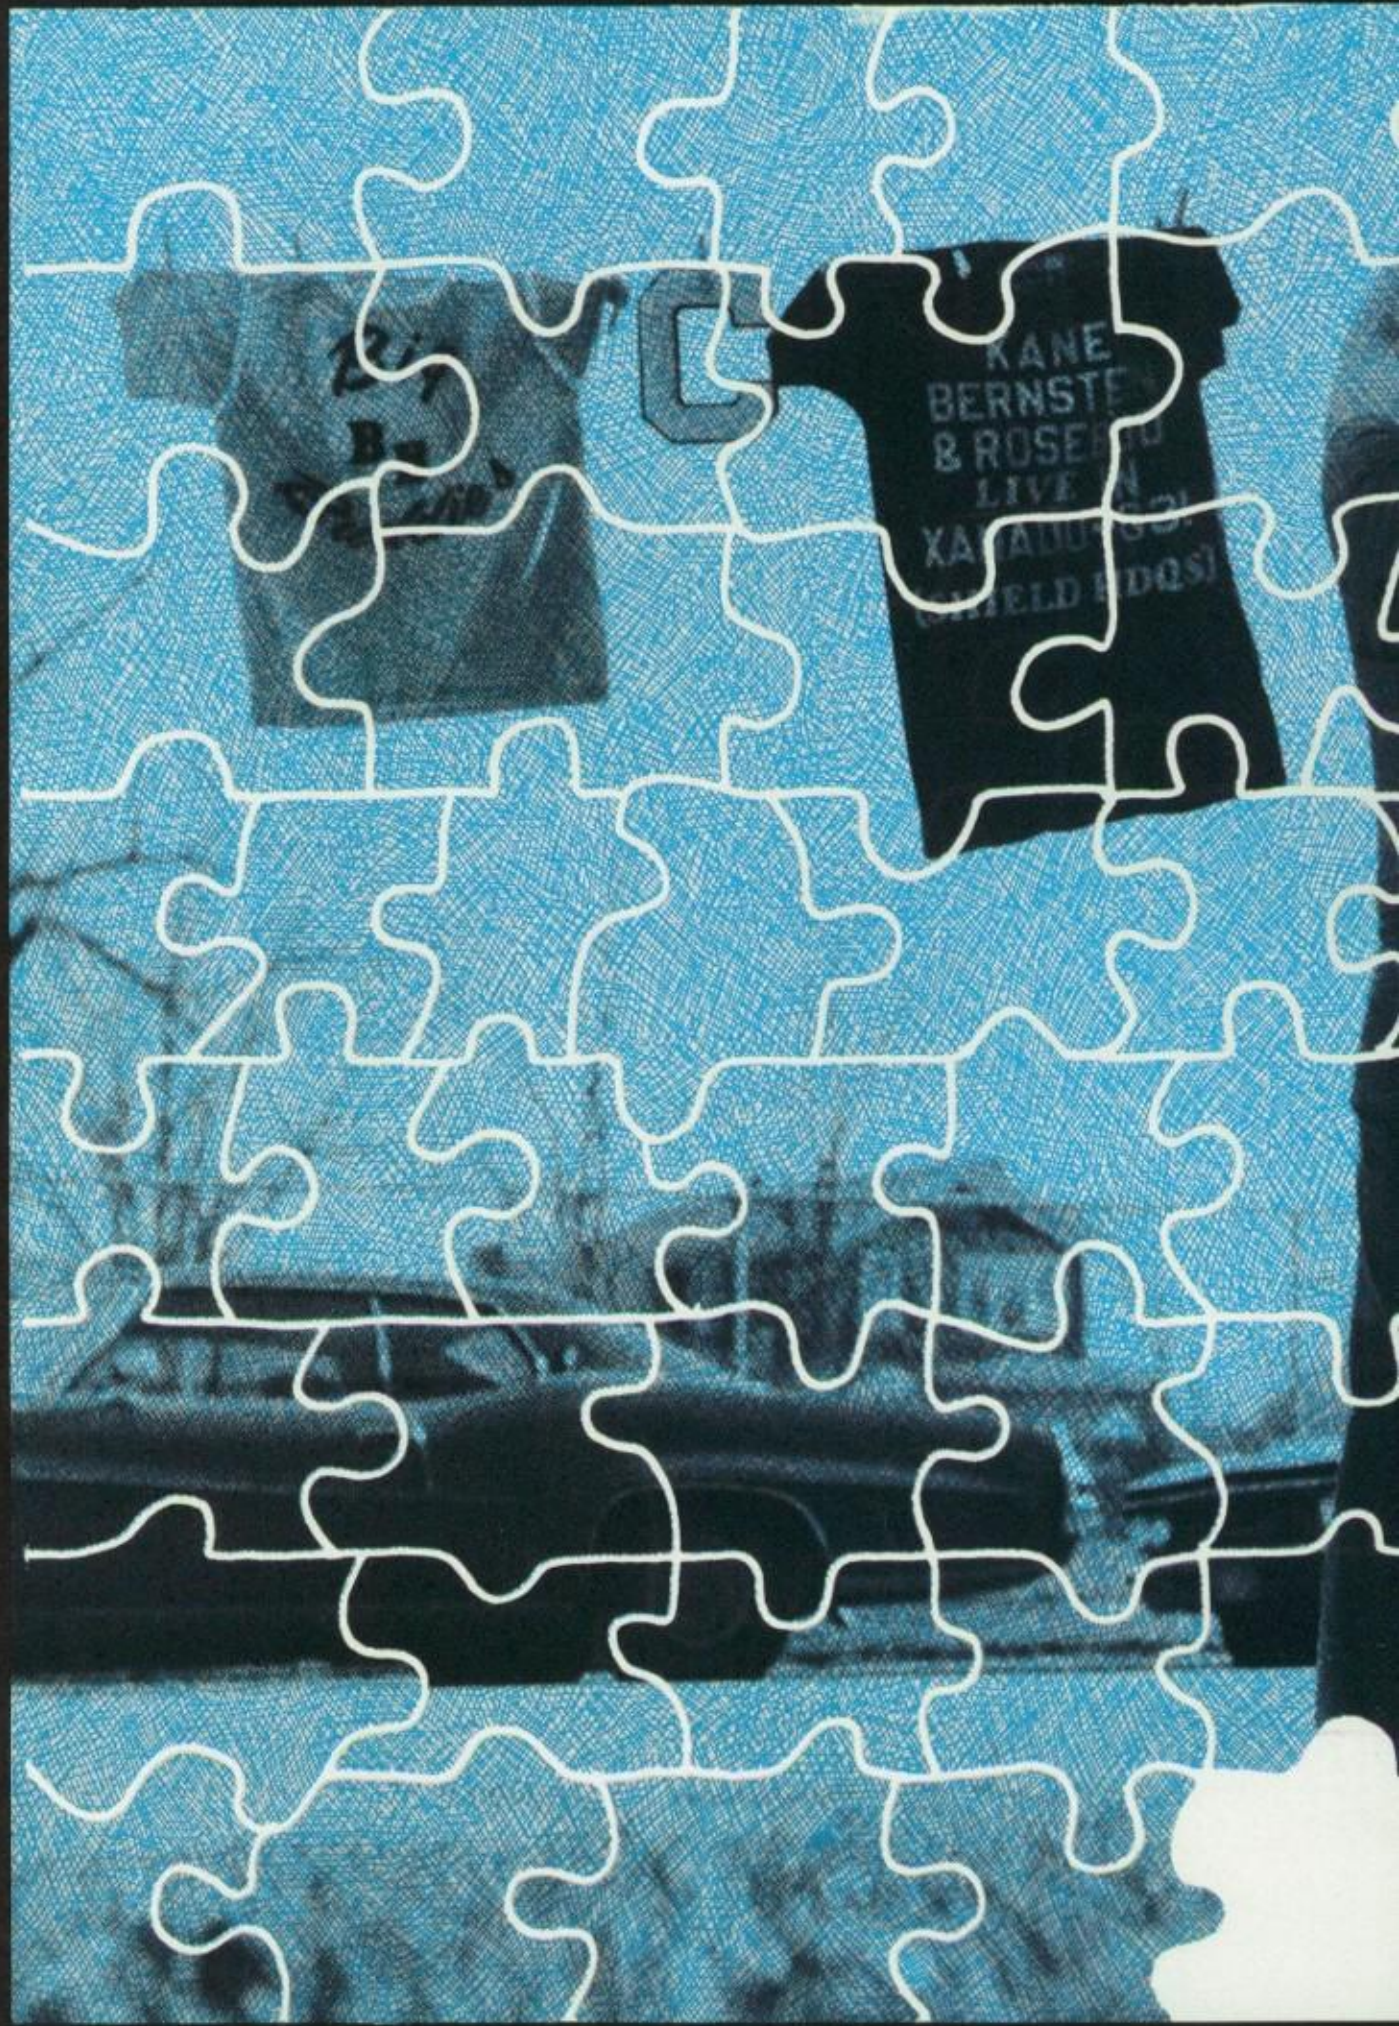

With health, physical fitness, and exercise becoming more and more popular, students are taking advantage of intramural programs and SCHS sports not merely for competition's sake, but more importantly for the self-improvement it provides. With the accent on individual achievement, participants now, more than ever, believe that "It's not whether you win or lose, but how you play the game."

1. Football practice again? For these guys it's 3 hours a day, 6 days a week, 4 months a year . . . 2. Mike Tirabassi asks, "Ken Sands, how does it feel?" 3. "Just passing through," says Sue Wick to Karen Schovain. 4. "Stud Brehm" dazzles his intramurals teammates with his famous farmer shot. 5. It sometimes can be lonely being a runner. Right Nancy? (Kasinski) 6. Why is Dan Stuebe taking ballet lessons on the basketball court? 7. The Varsity Cheerleaders clean up their act at halftime. 8. Sue Hilmer and Lysa Beggi battle for the ball.

SCHS clubs and organizations offer students a chance to get involved both in their school and in Racine. Many students take advantage of these opportunities with enthusiasm. Pep Club worked hard this year coordinating Homecoming and other school activities. The Shield staff put in many long hours to provide students with an excellent news magazine. Freshmen appreciated the Senior Big Buddies who helped them adjust to a new school. Members of the Hostess Club offered their services to organizations in the Racine community. Service and entertainment were main objectives of the Angel Arrangement. The Red Cross Club caroled at St. Mary's Medical Center and put on a St. Patrick's Day skit at St. Monica's. Many people contributed their time, energy and talent to make this year one of the best.

The lights went up on an empty stage — or was Harvey there? Harvey's easy to miss; even though he's 6'1½" tall, he's an invisible white rabbit. Being the friend of an invisible rabbit is pretty peculiar, but then Elwood P. Dowd, Harvey's friend, was never considered quite normal. The odd relationship between the two upset those close to Elwood, causing them to doubt his state of mind. All skepticism concerning Elwood disappears in the final act when he convinces everyone that it is better to be pleasant than to be a "perfectly normal human being."

Mary Chase's superlative comedy opened on Broadway and ran for four consecutive years. The SCHS Players' recreation of Harvey did equally as well, breaking attendance records for a non-musical production. Not bad for starters!

The Players' second production of the year, Lady Windermere's Fan, related a witty account of a young lady's education in morality. Lady Windermere revealed how she had been educated when she stated, "I don't think now that people can be divided into the good and the bad, as though they were two separate races or creations." This fact is revealed to her husband, Lord Windermere, during a discussion on the day after her twenty-first birthday, demonstrating how she came of age both physically and morally. Further emphasizing the morality theme were the costumes, in varying shades of black and white, according to the ethical values of the characters.

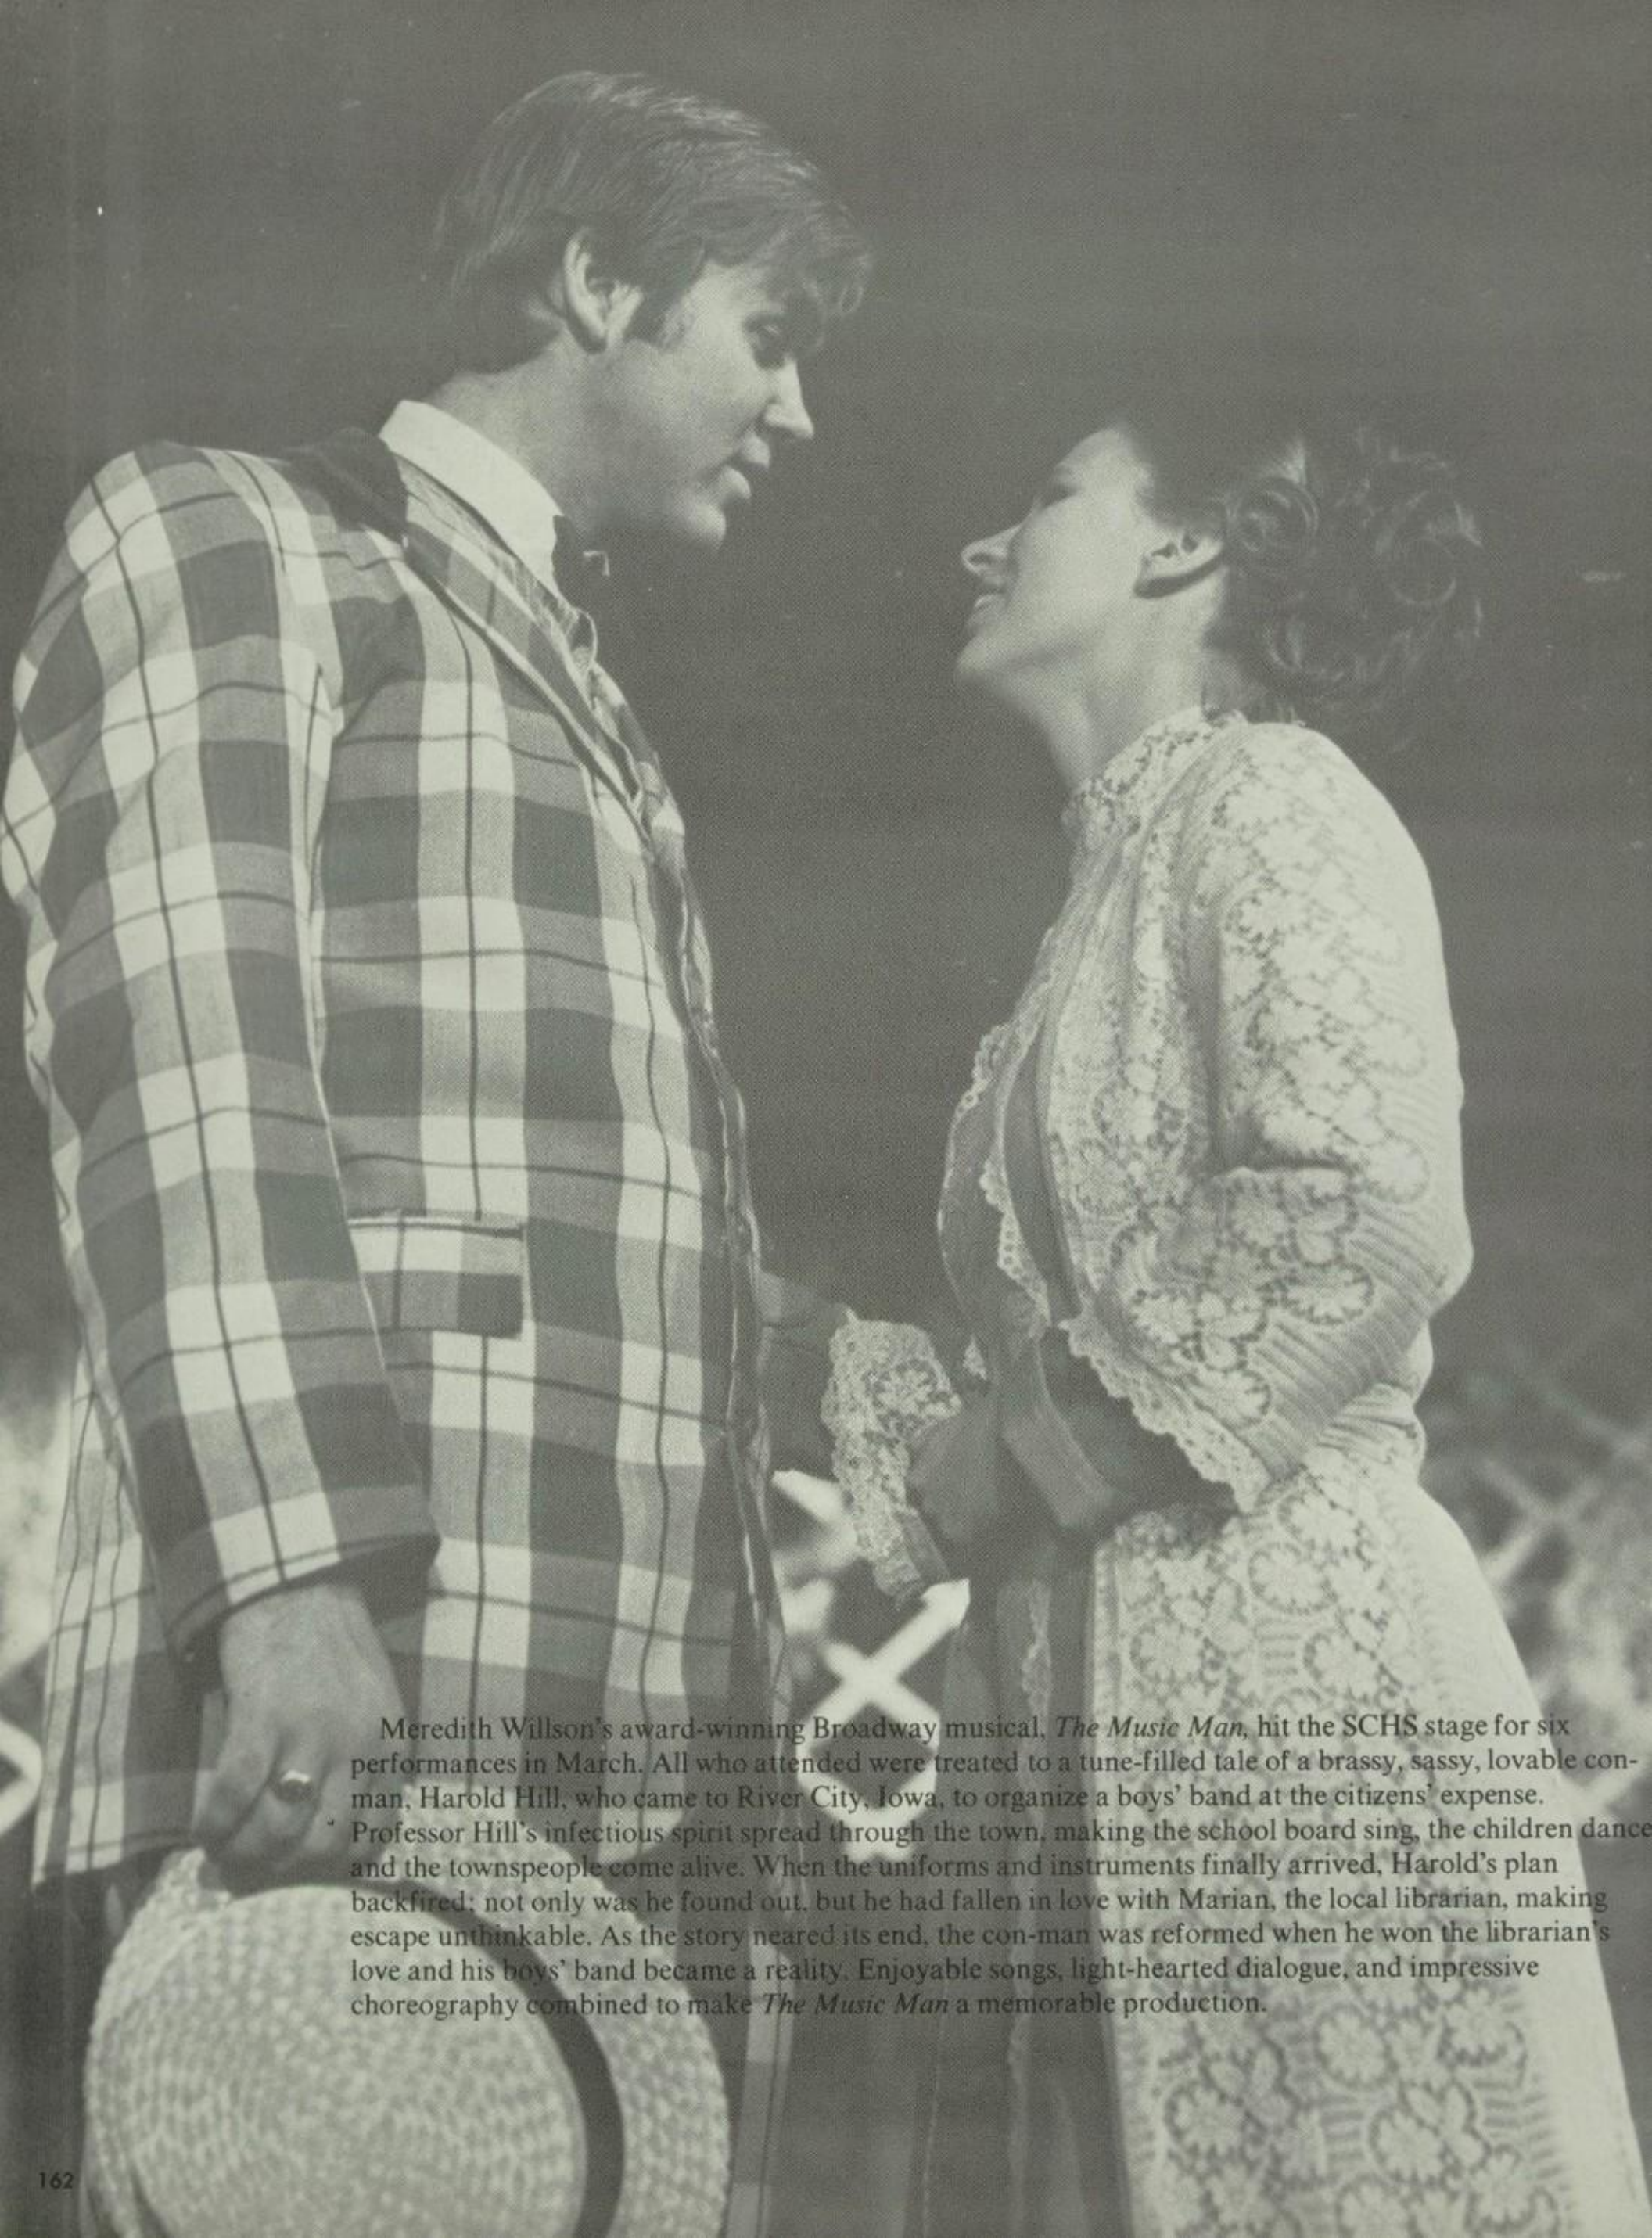

Lady Windermere's Fan is considered one of the most brilliant creations of the renowned Irish playwright Oscar Wilde. Written in 1892, Lady Windermere's Fan still claims undying popularity today.

Meredith Willson's award-winning Broadway musical, The Music Man, hit the SCHS stage for six performances in March. All who attended were treated to a tune-filled tale of a brassy, sassy, lovable con-man, Harold Hill, who came to River City, Iowa, to organize a boys' band at the citizens' expense. Professor Hill's infectious spirit spread through the town, making the school board sing, the children dance and the townspeople come alive. When the uniforms and instruments finally arrived, Harold's plan backfired; not only was he found out, but he had fallen in love with Marian, the local librarian, making escape unthinkable. As the story neared its end, the con-man was reformed when he won the librarian's love and his boys' band became a reality. Enjoyable songs, light-hearted dialogue, and impressive choreography combined to make The Music Man a memorable production.

Closing the season for the Players was an amusing comedy revolving around the Cavendishes, a "royal family" of the American Theater. Set in 1927, The Royal Family, by George S. Kaufman and Edna Ferber, depicted the exciting, sometimes crazy, lives of three generations of Cavendishes. Fanny Cavendish, at age seventy, dominated the household with her courage and sarcasm. Defenseless against her were her brother, Herbert Dean, daughter Julie, grand-daughter Gwen, and son Tony, who had left the stage for movie stardom. Over a year's time, one saw Gwen, and later Julie, decide to leave the stage forever, or temporarily as it turned out. Tony arrived from Hollywood, only to leave the next day for Europe, but eventually came home to announce his return to the stage in Germany. Throughout this year of confusion, Fanny had been becoming increasingly weaker, and when she realized that the family would be in lights for years to come, she died, ending the 71 year reign of one of the greatest actresses of all time.

Special Thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Halliday of Charles Studio and to Mr. Thomas Schoene of Western Publishing Company.

Connie,
Take it easy - Don't spend too much time with Bobby, Scott, Jeff and all those weirdos they might get you in trouble!
Have a good year,

Sue Helmer '78
Q

P.S. maybe I'll see you at Bobby's big sometime. *

Connie, good luck with this year. I'm sure you'll do a super job... Just avoid the injuries. Again good luck
Kerry Hester

Connie, we sure had a great time at Connie's house that night. At least I did. I'm glad we got to become better friends & do things together. See you around at baseball games. Friends Paula

Connie,
I'm really glad I got to know you. Maybe some day I'll stop in Parkers
for some free food. Have a good summer love
Amy

Connie,
School was great this year with ya, had a great time at Steve Martin. But you had to get sick, ha-ha.

Besides that, it was alot of fun. You'll have to introduce me to mich.

Love

Damn, I've known you for so long, you'd think there'd be nothing for me to say, but ~~the feelings~~ ^{the feelings} + emotions still overflow + I have to say that I love you, Connie. Not just because, but for all the things ^{you} are: funny, chatrustworthy, + warm. There is a need for you in the world. Take care of yourself if not for your sake, then for me. Much love + happiness, Alice

Have you been running lately?
Steve Martin was really great huh? Keep up the running - and stop goofing around
w/ Karen. You should be the ~~star~~ of the track team
this year.

Mary
Prochniak
